MONMOUTH COLLEGE BULLETIN

Series LXXI, No. 1, October, 1963

Published monthly except June and August by the Monmouth College. Entered as Second Class matter at the postoffice in Monmouth, Illinois.

Monmouth College Catalog

1963-65

"Monmouth College proposes to provide young men and women with an understanding of the world in which they live, in all of its most general aspects;

"To provide them with an intelligent understanding and comprehension of the basic structure of the world of physical nature, the world of living organisms from the lowest to the highest forms, the world of human society and institutions, the world of ideas including the products of both imagination and conceptual thinking, and the world of values;

"To provide them with a mature grasp of some one field of study, and to assure a moderate degree of skill in the use of the intellect.

"Monmouth affirms that such a course of study is the only sound foundation for an effective life in modern society, both as a necessary preparation for further training in any occupation or profession that involves the exercise of personal responsibility, and for any function in any phase of human life requiring judgment and understanding in addition to mere skill."

Monmouth College, founded in 1853, is a coeducational liberal arts college affiliated with the United Presbyterian Church, U. S. A. The college's four-year course of study under the three-term, three-course curriculum leads to the Bachelor of Arts degree.

THE ACADEMIC PROGRAM

The Monmouth College faculty adopted a new curriculum for the college effective September, 1962. Under this new educational program, the nine-month academic year is divided into three terms of approximately 11 weeks each.

Normally, students register for three full term courses each term for a total of nine term courses during the academic year. Thirty-six term courses are required for graduation. Freshman and sophomores are required to take physical education each term without credit toward graduation.

A full term course normally meets four times weekly for 50-minute periods, exclusive of laboratory sessions. All courses are regarded as term courses with the exception of fractional courses in studio art, applied music and dramatics.

Students may register for 10 courses during the regular academic year with the approval of their academic adviser. In this case students are permitted to register for a fourth (full) course during one term of the academic year if no fractional courses are taken during that term and if a 3.0 (B) or better grade average has been achieved in the two preceding terms.

Students who achieve a 3.0 (B) or better grade average during the preceding two terms may register for more than 10 courses during an academic year with the permission of the academic dean and their academic adviser. In no case is a student permitted to register for more than four courses during any term or for more than 11 courses, including fractional courses, during the year.

For graduation a student must attain or surpass a grade-point average of 2.0 (C).

To qualify for the degree of Bachelor of Arts a candidate must meet certain specifications in quantity, quality, distribution, field of concentration, independent reading, and in the senior comprehensive examination.

GRADUATION REQUIREMENTS

- I. Credit in a total of 36 term courses.
- II. A grade-point average of 2.0 (C) or better in all courses.
- III. Distribution of 14 term courses in specified divisions and completion of six terms of satisfactory work in physical education.
- IV. A field of concentration consisting of either (1) a departmental major presenting a minimum of seven term courses from the major department and a minimum of five term courses in related fields chosen from those specified by the major department: or (2) a topical major of at least 12 term courses approved by the curriculum committee. All courses in the field of concentration require a grade-point average of 2.5 or better.
- V. A passing grade in the senior comprehensive examination.
- VI. Satisfactory completion of a program of independent reading including a general reading and comprehensive reading program.
- VII. The senior year must be spent in residence at Monmouth College.
(No exceptions to these regulations will be made unless authorized by the faculty.)

DISTRIBUTION REQUIREMENTS

The distribution requirements are intended to help the student attain a broad and comprehensive acquaintance with the basic characteristics of the world in which we live. These requirements are intended to help the student attain familiarity with the tools of the intellect including (1) the experimental methods, (2) the method of empirical generalization, (3) language and (4) the method of formal analysis. Distribution requirements should be fulfilled within the first two years, if possible.

Students may satisfy any of these requirements by passing an examination sufficiently comprehensive to test their knowledge of the work presented in the required course or courses.

The same requirements for graduation will apply to transfer students except that some special arrangements may be made regarding the date at which the requirements of the first two years will be satisfied. These requirements should be completed within a year of the initial date of registration.

No course except a second-year foreign language course shall be used to satisfy both distribution and concentration requirements.

DIVISION I HUMANITIES

Art, Music, or Theater Arts (Speech): One term course (or equivalent)

English: Two term courses

English (literature), History or Philosophy: Two term courses chosen from separate fields

Foreign Language: Two term courses (beyond 101 and 102)

Religion or Bible: One term course

Speech: One term course

DIVISION II SOCIAL SCIENCES

Two term courses in separate fields chosen from the departments of economics, government, psychology or sociology.

DIVISION III NATURAL SCIENCES AND MATHEMATICS

Three term courses chosen from the departments of biology, chemistry, geology, physics, or mathematics, including a sequence of two term courses in a laboratory science.

DIVISION IV PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Freshmen and sophomores are required to complete six terms of satisfactory work in physical education unless excused by the director of the college health service for medical reasons. A proficiency rating for each term course will be given.

Passing a swimming test or receiving credit for a swimming course is a graduation requirement for all students.

FIELD OF CONCENTRATION

A field of concentration shall consist of (1) a departmental major and related courses or (2) a topical major. All courses in the field of concentration shall be of grade-point 2.0 or better and the grade-point average must be 2.5 or better.

DEPARTMENTAL MAJOR

A departmental major shall consist of at least seven term courses chosen from the major department and at least five term courses or related courses chosen from those specified by the major department. The work in the field of concentration during the junior or senior years shall include some form of individualized study. Each student must give positive evidence of his competence in his field of concentration by means of a comprehensive examination.

TOPICAL MAJOR

A topical major shall consist of at least 12 term courses chosen from different departments as a group of studies linked together by a special theme or field of interest. The program for the topical major must be approved by the curriculum committee and shall be under the direction of an adviser appointed by that committee. The work in the field of concentration during the junior and senior years shall include some form of individualized study. Each student must give positive evidence of competence in his field of concentration by means of a comprehensive examination.

SENIOR COMPREHENSIVE EXAMINATION

A comprehensive examination in the field of concentration is required of each candidate for the degree. This examination will be in three parts:

1. The Graduate Record examination, to be taken during the senior year.
2. A written essay examination of four hours, consisting either of one four-hour paper or two two-hour papers on questions which require a comprehensive grasp of the problems of the field and a broad acquaintance with its literature.
3. An oral examination (where not more than three candidates will be examined at one time) by a committee composed of one representative of the candidate's major field, one representative of his related field, and one to be nominated by the candidate from a department outside the field of concentration.

The second and third parts of the examination must be taken during the last two terms of the candidate's residence as a regular student. The examination will be judged as a whole, and will be graded Honor, Pass or Fail. A grade of Pass is required for graduation; a grade of Honor is required for honors at graduation. A candidate who fails the examination may apply for one re-examination, but a second failure will be final.

INDEPENDENT READING

All students are required to pursue a program of independent reading during their period of enrollment at Monmouth College. The reading program is divided into two parts: part one, entitled general reading, covers the freshman year, part two, entitled comprehensive reading, covers the sophomore, junior and senior years.

General Reading Program

The general reading program envisages a lively acquaintance with and understanding of broadly-selected writings which are of great worth and significance to the educated person and his world.

The general reading program is administered by the general reading program committee of the faculty. This committee ascertains from every faculty-member those books which are worthy of inclusion in the general reading list. The committee determines what writings shall be included in the program. Each year review and revision, if required, shall be made by the faculty committee. The student will be encouraged to begin his reading immediately upon acceptance as a student of the college. Satisfactory performance is required for sophomore standing.

Comprehensive Reading Program

The comprehensive reading program administered by each department includes selected writings related to the student's field of concentration. A broad bibliographical acquaintance with outstanding works in the field plus a first-hand knowledge of selected works in concept and import will be required.

The senior comprehensive examination includes the work of the comprehensive reading program.

The comprehensive reading lists are prepared by the several departments.

SEMINARS AND INDIVIDUAL STUDY

Monmouth College requires some form of individualized study by each student during the junior or senior years. The phenomenon of individual study at Monmouth is manifested in several ways. For some individual study is independent study; for others it is self-directed study; for still others it is study done outside the usual academic setting—work done off the campus. The essential element is the independence of student learning. The focus is upon the individual instead of the group.

Every academic department has a departmental seminar program in the major field for the junior and senior years.

The inclusion of seminars and individualized study introduces greater flexibility into the academic program and reflects the purposes of liberal arts higher education in effective ways.

ACADEMIC REGULATIONS

ATTENDANCE

At Monmouth College, responsibility for class attendance is placed upon the student except as this is limited by the regulations which follow:

1. Courses of study at Monmouth College are planned and organized upon the assumption that the student will be in regular attendance. The student is responsible for all work covered in the course, including lectures, class discussions, assignments of any kind and all examinations. However, students need not make application to have absences excused and need not make any explanation of class absences.
2. Freshmen will be permitted no voluntary absences during the first term. During the second and third term, this will apply only to freshmen who failed to earn a grade-point average of at least 2.0. All unexcused absences for freshmen who are not permitted to have voluntary absences must be explained to the personnel dean concerned no later than 24 hours after the student returns to class.
3. Attendance is required at the last meeting of a class before, and at the first meeting of a class after, a college vacation. Students who have urgent reasons for absences immediately before or after vacations may be excused by the registrar. Students with unexcused class absences on these days will be charged a $10 fee for each class missed.
4. A student whose record in a course is suffering because of frequent absences may be required by his instructor or the academic dean to give up the privileges of these regulations and, during the remainder of the term, explain all absences. This action may be taken at any time during a term.

CHAPELS AND CONVOCATIONS

Chapels and convocations will be held each Tuesday at 9 a. m. and each Thursday at 10 a. m.

Monthly vesper services will be held the first Sunday of each month.

1. Students will be required to attend a specified number of events each term. These will include chapels, Concert-Lecture Series, convocations, programs, some faculty recitals, one major play each term and Vespers.
2. Chapel programs will be religious in character, while convocations will be cultural.
3. The schedule of events will be announced at the beginning of each term.
4. A two-hour period will be set aside for Honors Convocations. There will be no other chapel or convocation that week. Attendance at the Honors Convocation will count as two of the required number of events.
5. There will be no excuses granted for any cause except prolonged illness.

REGISTRATION

In the spring of each year students will register in advance for all three terms of the next academic year. New students, in consultation with the personnel dean concerned, will choose their courses during the summer preceding their entrance to the college.

All changes in registration require written permission of the instructor for the courses involved and the student's adviser. A fee of $5 is charged for each course change made after the first week of classes. No student will be permitted to add a course to his schedule after the first week of classes and any course dropped after the second week of classes will incur a grade of F except for cases of illness or other circumstances beyond the control of the student.

GRADES

Academic work is graded at Monmouth College as follows:

- A
- B
- C+
- C
- D
- F Failure
- I Incomplete (Grade Deferred)
- In Progress
- W Withdrawal
- W-F Failure because of withdrawal

The mark I signifies work in the course is incomplete due to illness or circumstances beyond the control of the student, or where the instructor feels further evaluation is needed before the grade is determined. Unless the I is removed within the term following that in which it was given, the grade automatically becomes an F. The mark W signifies withdrawal and is given when a student withdraws from a course with the approval of the instructor involved, the student's adviser and the academic dean, provided the student is passing in the course at the time of withdrawal. The mark W will not be recorded after the end of the first week of classes except for reasons of illness or circumstances beyond the control of the student.

In seminars and other independent study courses where the work of the course cannot be completed in one term, the grade "In Progress" may be given for such uncompleted work, said grade not to be used in calculating the grade-point average. The appropriate letter grade shall be given upon completion of this work, which in no case shall be later than the end of the next succeeding term.

GRADE-POINT AVERAGE

All students in a class are ranked according to their work. Each teacher determines the rank of his own students in his own way. The following grades are used:

- A = 4 grade-points per term course
- B = 3 grade-points per term course
- C+ = 2.5 grade-points per term course
- C = 2 grade-points per term course
- D = 1 grade-point per term course

The term "average" is determined by dividing the total grade-points earned during the term by the number of term courses taken. The cumulative average is the total of all grade-points earned, divided by the total number of term courses taken.

ACADEMIC PROBATION

A student who in any term fails to earn a grade-point average of at least 1.6 is placed on probation for the following term.

A student may remove himself from probation by earning at least a 1.6 grade-point average for the term during which he is on probation and by satisfying the cumulative grade-point average requirement.

A student who is on probation for the first time and fails to remove himself from probation at the end of that term may be required to withdraw from college for at least one term. The academic dean, in consultation with the Scholarships and Admissions committee, determines whether or not withdrawal will be required.

A student who has been placed on probation a second time and has failed to remove himself from probation by the end of that term shall be requested to withdraw from the college and cannot apply for re-enrollment for one academic year. After a year's absence from the campus, a request to re-enroll may be made to the Scholarship and Admissions Committee.

CUMULATIVE GRADE-POINT AVERAGE

A student with one through six term courses whose cumulative grade-point average is less than 1.6 is on probation. A student with seven through 18 term courses whose cumulative average is less than 1.8 is on probation. A student with more than 18 term courses whose cumulative average is less than 2.0 is on probation.

The cumulative grade-point average is computed on the basis of all credit courses in which the student has been enrolled.

DISCIPLINARY PROBATION

A student who is dismissed because of disciplinary reasons will be given a failing grade, if failing, and a "W" if passing at the time of dismissal, with the proviso that he must take the course over upon readmission to the college.

CLASSIFICATION

The student who has nine term courses of college credit and a grade-point average of 1.8 is classified as a sophomore; 18 term courses and a grade-point average of 2.0, a junior; 27 term courses and a grade-point average of 2.0, a senior.

DEGREES

The degree regularly conferred is Bachelor of Arts. Candidates for a degree shall make formal application to the registrar one year in advance of their expected graduation date. The course may be completed at the close of any term but the formal graduation will occur at the commencement in June. The senior year must be spent in residence at Monmouth College.

HONORS AT GRADUATION

Honors at graduation are either summa cum laude, magna cum laude or cum laude. The student is ranked upon his own merit, not upon comparative standing. To be eligible for honors at graduation a student must have been in residence at least six terms and have achieved a grade of Honor in the comprehensive examination. To be eligible for honors summa cum laude the grade-point average for the work taken in residence must be 3.9 or higher. To be eligible for honors magna cum laude, the grade-point average for the work taken in residence must be 3.75 or higher. To be eligible for honors cum laude, the grade-point average for the work taken in residence must be 3.5 or higher.

CREDIT BY EXAMINATION

Students may secure course credit by passing an examination administered by the department concerned and sufficiently comprehensive to prove mastery of the course. Such credit may not be used to void necessary admission units. Prior approval to take such an examination must be secured from the instructor administering the examination, the department head, the student's adviser, and the academic dean. The fee for this special examination is $25.

ADMISSION

In conformity with its purpose, Monmouth College admits as students young men and women of good moral character who are properly qualified by previous academic training to pursue the courses which the college offers. Preparatory training given by accredited secondary schools through grade 12 is the normal basis for admission to the freshman class.

REQUIREMENTS

Applicants must present a minimum of 15 secondary school units, 12 of which must be in the following fields: English, history, social science, foreign language, mathematics and science (a unit is a subject carried for one school year). Four of the 12 units must be in English. One-half unit of the English requirement may be in speech or other communication courses. All applicants are required to take the Scholastic Aptitude Test given by the College Entrance Examination Board and must present a satisfactory recommendation from their high school principal or counselor. Candidates who do not meet these requirements will be considered on their merits.

PROCEDURE

Application forms and other information relating to admission may be obtained from the admissions office. A $10 fee must accompany applications. This fee is non-refundable and is not applicable towards other college expenses. Application should be made early in the senior year of high school to the Director of Admissions, Monmouth College, Monmouth, Illinois.

Arrangements for taking the College Entrance Examination Board scholastic aptitude test may be made by writing the College Entrance Examination Board, Box 592, Princeton, New Jersey.

ADMISSION COMMITTEE ACTION

All applicants are notified of acceptance or rejection as soon as the admission committee takes official action on their application. Monmouth College uses a "rolling" admissions policy, which means that applications are processed as received and applicants generally are notified of admission committee action within a month of application.

ADVANCED STANDING

Students who wish to transfer to Monmouth from another school must present a letter of honorable dismissal and a transcript showing entrance credits accepted and credits earned while in attendance at that college. Transfer students must also furnish a statement indicating they are in good standing at the college from which the transfer is to be made.

HONORS AT ENTRANCE

In order to recognize and reward outstanding achievement of high school seniors applying for admission to Monmouth College, a program of Honors-at-Entrance has been established. A student may qualify for Honors-at-Entrance whether or not he has received financial aid.

High school seniors who rank in the upper 10 per cent of their graduating class will receive Honors-at-Entrance, including a certificate of merit signed by the president and issued by the college prior to the beginning of the academic year and listing as an Honors-at-Entrance student in appropriate college publications.

HONOR SCHOLARS

Students who receive Honors-at-Entrance may continue their status as Honor Scholars in succeeding years by exhibiting personal and social character satisfactory to the Honor Scholars committee, by carrying extra-curricular responsibility and by maintaining the following grade-point averages: at end of freshman year, 2.75; at end of sophomore year, 3.0; at end of junior year, 3.5. Maintaining these standards will make the student eligible for Honors at Graduation.

ADVANCED PLACEMENT

College credit, advanced placement and reduction of the distribution requirements may be granted to entering students who have demonstrated sufficiently strong preparation.

The advanced placement examinations of the College Entrance Examination Board, tests given at Monmouth during Orientation week, and school records may be used by the department in making such a recommendation.

Application for advanced placement should be made to the academic dean. Credit may be recorded if it does not void necessary admission units. The granting of credit is authorized by the academic dean upon recommendation of the instructor who gives the course, the head of the department concerned and with the approval of the faculty adviser.

Credit for one or more term courses is granted, and advanced placement at an appropriate level is offered, to any entering students who have demonstrated college level comprehension in one or more subjects. This credit satisfies any of the requirements for the degree to the same extent as if earned for courses taken at Monmouth. It may not be substituted for any course subsequently failed.

EXPENSES

TUITION AND FEES

Tuition and fees, excluding fees itemized below, is $408.33 per term. This includes instruction and laboratory fees and the following privileges: student health service and insurance coverage; admission to all regular athletic games, concert-lecture series programs and plays in the college theater; Student Center dues; one-third payment towards purchase of the Ravelings, college yearbook, and Piper literary annual; a one-term subscription to the student newspaper, the Oracle; and support of forensics and the student council. Charges for laboratory breakage are billed at the close of each term.

Special Students

Special students (working towards a degree but carrying less than three term courses), who desire participation in student activities and Student Center privileges will be charged at the rate of $133.33 per term course.

Special students who do not desire to participate in student activities or have Student Center privileges will be charged at the rate of $125 per term course.

When a student carries a total of more than 10 courses (including fractional) during an academic year, the additional charge will be $135 per term course. Any student who, by special permission, carries four full courses for two terms will be charged $135 for the second fourth course regardless of the total number of courses carried during the year.

Auditing Courses

Students may audit courses, without credit, in addition to their regular academic program, subject to the permission of the instructor involved and approval of the academic dean. Written permission of the instructor involved is required before an audited course is listed on the student's permanent record.

Miscellaneous Fees

Application Fee	$10.00
Graduation Fee (including cap and gown rental)	18.00
Student Teaching Fee (Education 401, 401S, 402, 402S)	10.00
Late Registration Fee	3.00
Change of Registration (after first week of classes in each term) ..	5.00
Special Fee, Geology 303 (Field Geology)	25.00
Practice-room fee for Piano, Voice and Instruments, per term:
One hour daily	5.00
two hours daily	8.00
Organ rental, per term:
four hours per week	15.00
six hours per week	25.00

(For those students registered as full-time students, who include credit in applied music as a part of their program, there is no extra tuition charge. Private lessons on a non-credit basis are available at $25 per term for one half-hour lesson each week.)

Special Examinations

Students who have unexcused absences from a regular final examination or an announced hour test will be charged a fee for a special make-up examination. The fee is $10 for a final examination, $5 for an announced hour test. A statement from the business office showing that the fee has been paid must be presented before the examination will be given.

Transcripts

Each student is entitled to two transcripts, showing the record of his work at the college, without charge. A fee of $1 will be charged for each additional transcript. No transcript will be issued until the student's college account has been paid.

PAYMENTS

Advance Tuition Deposit

When notified of admission, new students are required to pay a $100 advance tuition deposit to apply on college expenses for the first year. No refund of this $100 will be made unless the student suffers an illness or accident which prevents his entering college at the admission date for which he has applied; and then the refund will be made only if the college is notified prior to June 15 (one month prior to date of entry for new students entering at the second or third term).

Returning students are also required to pay a $100 advance tuition deposit not later than May 1, to apply on college expenses of the following year. Refund privileges for returning students are the same as those for new students.

Deferred Payment

Payments for tuition, fees, room and meals are due at the beginning of each term. A deferred payment charge of $5 will be assessed all students who defer any part of the term's bill.

The deferred payment plan requires one-fourth of the total fees to be paid at registration and the balance to be paid in equal installments by the 15th day of each of the succeeding three months.

A charge of five per cent interest will be made on all past-due balances. A student who does not maintain his deferred payments as scheduled will be dropped from classes. Students whose accounts are not paid in full 10 days before the end of the term will not receive grades or credit until their accounts are paid.

Other Payment Plans

Plan One . . . Full Payment

Under plan one, bills are paid in full at the beginning of the school year or at the beginning of each term.

Plan Two . . . Deferred Payment

Plan two provides for one-ninth of the total bill for the school year to be paid at registration and the balance to be paid in equal installments by the 15th day of each of the succeeding eight months. There is a $15 service charge for this plan.

Plan Three . . . Monthly Payments

Plan three spreads payments over an 11-month period. There is no additional charge for this plan.

Monthly Payment Plan

Parents who wish to pay tuition, board and room on the monthly payment plan will be billed as follows:

Advance Tuition Deposit*	$ 100.00
June 10	100.00
July 10	100.00
August 10	100.00
September 10	420.00
October 10	100.00
November 10	100.00
December 10	100.00
January 10	420.00
February 10	100.00
March 10	345.00
April 10	100.00
	$2,085.00

Statements are sent out monthly by the Business Office on the first of each month and are payable by the tenth. Any grants or scholarships by Monmouth College are applied as follows: One-third against the September charges, one-third against the January charges and one-third against the March charges. Any other fees or charges are shown on statements in the months in which charges are made. A room reservation deposit of $15.00 is not credited to board, room and tuition charges. A $5.00 bookkeeping charge will be added per term for deviations of more than 30 days from the above schedule.

In the event of withdrawal prior to the opening of school, full refund will be made of all monies paid, except the advance tuition deposit of $100 which is refundable only under special circumstances. If the student withdraws after school opens, refund will be made on the basis of terms stated in the catalog.

Room and Meal Rates

The charge for meals, per school year, is $500. During the official school year, 21 meals per week are served at the college dining hall. The first meal following a vacation period will be served the morning of the day classes are resumed. The dining room may be closed several days during the period between final examinations and registration for the new term.

Room rent per year is $360, including linen service.

Room reservations will be made only on payment of the $100 advance tuition deposit and a $15 room deposit. Rooms will be reserved in the order in which the deposits are received.

Refunds

If it becomes necessary for a student to withdraw from college, refunds of tuition will be made in accordance with the following schedule:

Two weeks or less	80%
During third or fourth week	60%
During fifth or sixth week	40%
During seventh or eighth week	20%
Thereafter	no refund

*Payable at time of acceptance

Refund of board charges will be based on the unused portion of the term, less a penalty of two weeks. Room rent is not refundable under any circumstances. Students who are not able to abide by residence hall regulations, or who show marked unwillingness to cooperate with the house director, may be asked to move from their rooms without privilege of refund.

Annual Expenses, 1963-64

Tuition and Fees	$1,225
Room	360
Board	500

An estimated $300 to $400 will be required for books, supplies, clothing, recreation and other miscellaneous and personal items.

FINANCIAL AID

PROCEDURE

Students who meet the admission standards of the college may secure educational cost assistance in meeting their college expenses if a need is shown. Educational cost need is the difference between one year's educational cost (tuition, books, board, room, etc.) and the student's resources for the same period (aid from parents, guardian, relatives, personal savings and vacation earnings, other scholarships and awards, etc.).

To determine the need factor the student must complete, with his parents, a College Scholarship Service (CSS) form when he applies for financial aid. On this form he and his parents supply information about the family's income, assets, debts and other conditions affecting this factor in the student's resources. The completed form is sent by the applicant to College Scholarship Service, Box 175, Princeton, New Jersey. CSS forms may be secured from the college office of Student Aid and Placement.

CSS computes an estimate of the family's financial means and furnishes this information to the college. The estimate states how much the family might reasonably be expected to pay toward the student's college expenses during the year. The CSS estimate and other information the college may have determines the amount and kinds of aid which may be given.

TYPES OF FINANCIAL AID

Monmouth College believes that the assumption of a reasonable amount of business-related responsibility during the student years develops maturity and post-college adjustment. For this reason every effort is made to combine the following kinds of educational cost assistance in meeting a student's need factor:

SCHOLARSHIPS, GRANTS-IN-AID AND LOANS

Monmouth's many awards of this type are listed elsewhere in this catalog.

Scholarships

Freshmen awards are made to students who rank in the upper one-fourth of their high school class and whose ability, character and promise of achievement are outstanding. Size of the scholarship depends upon need, rank in class and activity record.

Upperclass students who have maintained a cumulative grade-point average of at least 3.0 in the preceding year, have a need, and whose ability, character and record indicate continued high achievement are eligible for scholarships.

Grants-In-Aid

These awards are made to those students with financial need who do not qualify academically for scholarships.

Freshmen, to qualify for a grant-in-aid, must rank in the upper half of their high school class, show promise of being able to pass college-level work and have a record showing good character, some leadership potential and participation in extra-curricular activities.

Upperclass students must have a cumulative grade-point average of at least 2.0 in the preceding year and a previous college record indicating good character and conduct and continued satisfactory achievement.

Student Loans

The usual student loan fund is a revolving type wherein the repayment goes back into the fund for relending to other students with financial need.

Interest rates are usually low (3 to 4 per cent) and repayment does not begin until the student ceases full-time attendance. Repayment periods vary with the different student loan funds. For example, the National Defense Education Act Student Loan Program provides one year of grace after the student ceases being a full-time student. No interest accrues during this period and no repayments are due.

Interest begins with the second year and then the student has 10 years to repay, with deferment of interest and repayment of principal for up to three years if the student attends graduate school or enters the armed services. The act requires that special consideration be given to students planning to teach or those who specialize in modern foreign languages or science. Other students become eligible for this type of loan after the special consideration cases have been completed. A student going into teaching may have 10 per cent of his loan cancelled each year for a maximum of five years.

In addition to the loan funds administered by Monmouth College, a list of other scholarship and loan funds administered independently are on file in the student financial aid office and information is available to those who wish to make their own arrangements for educational cost financing.

United Student Aid Funds

Also available through Monmouth College are loans granted through the United Student Aid Funds, Inc. This is a national, non-profit, tax-exempt corporation established to endorse bank loans to deserving college students who could not otherwise obtain such loans. Details in regard to procedures may be obtained at the college office of student aid and placement.

Part-Time Employment

Although there may be a slight variation in the number of jobs available to students on the campus and in the community from year to year, the number, generally, is slightly more than 200. Campus jobs include secretarial-type work, building and campus maintenance, switchboard operation, residence hall desk duty, library clerical work, residence hall counseling, food service duties and messenger services. The food services and residence hall positions pay from one-third to full board. Other jobs are at hourly rates ranging from 75 cents to $1.25 per hour.

Student assistantships in the various departments provide a limited number of jobs to upperclass students recommended by department heads.

The college feels that part-time employment demands are reasonable in the number of hours per week required (this varies with jobs), and expects the student to make whatever adjustments are required to accommodate his work, study and social program to the end that his academic program does not suffer.

The college student aid office also lists community part-time jobs and notifies those students who have indicated an interest in part-time work. The college student aid office does not list jobs with excessive hourly demands, unreasonable night-time hours or environmental factors that are undesirable.

GENERAL

It is Monmouth's desire to provide educational cost assistance to every student having a financial need who possesses character, ability, promise and scholastic aptitude and is willing to make reasonable sacrifices to attain his goal of graduating from Monmouth College.

All financial aid is awarded with the understanding that the individual is a full-time student and will allow sufficient time to study consistently. Failure to maintain the required scholastic average will result in cancellation of the award. All awards (except for mid-year entrants) are made for a one-year period and one-third the award is deducted from the student's tuition account each term. All awards are acted upon by the scholarship committee or by special committees, if required by the donors of special funds.

Students holding awards must reapply before March 15 each year in order to obtain financial aid for the following academic year.

Students receiving aid may not own or operate cars on the Monmouth campus.

Students receiving financial aid from the college, except those whose homes are in Monmouth, are required to live in college housing.

PROCEDURE FOR APPLICATION

Freshmen and Transfer Students

New students applying for any of the above forms of financial aid must first apply for admission on the usual forms and be accepted. Next, the parents of the applicant must complete, sign and forward to Box 176, Princeton, New Jersey, the College Scholarship Service "Confidential Statement" in support of request for aid. "Confidential Statement" forms may be obtained through your high school.

Upperclass Students

Upperclass students applying for financial aid must complete the CSS "Confidential Statement" which may be obtained at the college student aid office. Students receiving aid must reapply by March 15 each year in order to obtain financial aid for the following academic year.

HONOR SCHOLARSHIP COMPETITION

Five scholarships with a value of up to $4,800 ($1,200 per year) are awarded each year to winners of the Monmouth College Honor Scholarship Competition. High school seniors ranking in the upper 20 per cent of their class and recommended by their principal or counselor are eligible to compete. Winners will be selected on the basis of test results and financial need. Those winners who do not have financial need will be given $100 honorary awards. Candidates who do not win Honor Scholarships will be considered for other scholarships granted by Monmouth College through regular scholarship funds. Further information may be obtained by writing the director of admissions.

Courses of Instruction

ARRANGEMENT

The departments of instruction in the following description of courses are arranged in alphabetical order. Departmental listings also contain general information concerning the program of the department and requirements for a major in that field.

NUMBERING AND LEVEL

The numbering of each course indicates the level of the course. Numbers 100-199 are used for introductory courses open to freshman. Numbers 200-299 are used for intermediate courses open to sophomores but not to freshmen. Numbers 300-399 are used for advanced courses open only to juniors and seniors or to sophomores with consent of the instructor. Numbers 400-499 are used to designate departmental seminars and independent study.

FRACTIONAL COURSES

Art: All studio courses will be fractional courses. Studio classes will meet six hours per week, either three periods of two hours each or two periods of three hours each. Two terms must be completed to receive one course credit; an additional course credit will be given after the completion of the third term.

Music: All applied music courses will be evaluated as one-sixth of a course per term. No credit will be given until the equivalent of a full course has been completed.

Speech and Dramatics: Dramatics will be evaluated as one-sixth of a course per term. Directing and debate will be evaluated as one-third of a course per term. No credit will be given until the equivalent of a full course has been completed.

ART

HARLOW B. BLUM, Assistant Professor, Head

MARTHA H. HAMILTON, Assistant Professor

As part of the liberal arts program, the art department offers courses designed to give students an aesthetic appreciation as well as an opportunity to develop creative processes. The art department aims to prepare interested students for graduate work in the fine arts and a professional art career. For students interested in teaching art at the elementary or secondary school level, the program is designed to comply with state requirements for certification.

Field of Concentration

At least 10 term courses in art and five related term courses to include the following: four term courses in art history and design theory, four term courses in studio art and two term courses in independent study (Art 320 and 420).

101. Introduction to the History of Art. A study of art from prehistoric times to the Baroque period.
Second term

Mrs. Hamilton

102. Introduction to the History of Art. A study of art from the Baroque period to the present time.

Third term

Mrs. Hamilton

103. Art Appreciation. A course for the general student, emphasizing increased perception of the formal elements of visual art—line, form, color and texture—with which one comes into contact every day. Included also are the theory and criticism of visual art. Open primarily to non-art majors.

First term

Mrs. Hamilton

211. Design. A study of the fundamental elements and principles of design applied to fine and minor arts.

Second term

Mrs. Hamilton

312. History of Interior Design, Furniture and Decoration. A study of interior design, furniture and decoration from prehistoric times through the seventeenth century.

First term (1962-63 and alternate years)

Mrs. Hamilton

314. History of Interior Design, Furniture and Decoration. A study of interior design, furniture and decoration from the eighteenth century to the present. Prerequisite: Art 312 or consent of the instructor.

Second term (1962-63 and alternate years)

Mrs. Hamilton

316. House Planning and Decoration. A study of house planning and building, interior and exterior, and decoration and furnishing. Special emphasis on contemporary materials and methods.

(1963-64 and alternate years)

Staff

319. Mediterranean Culture of the 16th and 17th Centuries. See French 319.

Staff

320. Junior Independent Study. An individual research program arranged in consultation with the instructor and designed to fit the interests of the student.

Third term

Staff

321. Architecture. Ancient, Medieval, and Renaissance architecture are used as a basis for appraising contemporary architecture.

First term

Mrs. Hamilton

322. Contemporary Art. A study of twentieth century painting and sculpture with emphasis on the art in America.

Third term

Mrs. Hamilton

331. European Renaissance. A study of the great figures in important centers in the Renaissance.

(1963-64 and alternate years)

Staff

420. Senior Independent Study. An individual research program as in 320, but on a more advanced level.

Third term

Staff

Studio Courses

All studio courses are fractional courses. Students will receive one-half course credit for each term during the first two terms in which they are enrolled in a studio art course sequence. Students who complete the third term of the same studio art course sequence will receive an additional term course credit.

151 a, b. Fundamentals of Drawing. Introducing the beginning student to a variety of media: charcoal, conte, ink, pastel and watercolor. Theory and practice in the elements of drawing with the emphasis on creative expression.

Mr. Blum

201 a, b. Beginning Printmaking-Serigraphy. A studio course in silk-screen emphasizing the basic techniques of the medium in the development of the fine print.

Mr. Blum

251 a, b. Elementary Oil Painting. Introducing the student to composition practice, analysis and painting techniques. Still-life, figure and landscape. Prerequisite: Art 151 or consent of the instructor.

Mr. Blum

301 a, b. Advanced Printmaking. Prerequisite: Art 201.

Mr. Blum

351 a, b. Composition and Painting. Composition practice, analysis and painting techniques with emphasis on the creative formal elements. Prerequisite: Art 251.

Mr. Blum

451 a, b. Advanced Composition. Individual creative work in the practice of painting, sculpture or graphic arts; and seminar on professional problems. Prerequisite: Art 301 or 351.

Mr. Blum

CHARLES J. SPEEL, II, Professor, Head

HAROLD J. RALSTON, Professor

J. STAFFORD WEEKS, Associate Professor

Courses in the department have four main objectives:

1. To develop in students a knowledge of the contents of the Bible, the use made of it in the past and present, the areas of study closely allied to it and the relationship of such knowledge to other fields of study.
2. To help students discover the role of religion in contemporary life, both personal and social, and to assist them in their quest for moral and religious understanding and certainty.
3. To develop in students a knowledge and understanding of the historical and doctrinal roles of Christianity and other religious forces.
4. To prepare students for the varied tasks of lay leadership and to build a foundation for graduate study in the case of those preparing for the ministry, for religious education and for the teaching of Bible and Religion.

Field of Concentration

- (a) A departmental unit of at least seven term courses.
- (b) At least five related term courses chosen in consultation with the department.

Bible

101. Bible Survey. A survey of the Old and New Testaments and a study of Jesus and Paul.

Each term

Staff

201. Old Testament Problems. Various aspects of Old Testament material including literature, religion and theology.

First term (1963-64 and every third year)

Mr. Speel

212. New Testament Problems. Various aspects of New Testament material, including literature and religious thought.

Second term (1964-65 and every third year)

Mr. Speel

301. Archaeology and the Bible. The bearing of archaeological and historical investigations on the life and literature of the Old and New Testaments along with a study of the relationship of neighboring cultures.

First term (1962-63, 1964-65 and twice every three years) Mr. Speel

Religion

101. Basic Beliefs. A study of the fundamentals of the Christian faith and a consideration of the chief creeds of Christendom.

First term.

Mr. Weeks

203. Ethics of the Professions and Business. A study of the history of Christian ethics and the ethics of the professions and businesses of the present day. Guest speakers, specialists in their fields, assist the instructor in the class. Discussion of historical and current situations.

Third term (1963-64 and every third year)

Mr. Weeks

213. Philosophy of Religion. See Philosophy 213.

301. Church History to 1450. A history of the Christian church from the time of Christ to 1450 A.D., including a study of Christian doctrine, church organization, significant ecclesiastical movements and outstanding church leaders.

First term

Mr. Speel

307. New Testament. See Classical Languages (Greek) 307.

308. New Testament. See Classical Languages (Greek) 308.

312. Church History 1450 to the Present. A history of the Christian church from 1450 A.D. to the present, including a study of doctrine, organization, ecclesiastical movements and church leaders.

Second term

Mr. Speel

322. World Religions. An introduction to the history of religion, emphasizing the life and character of the founders, the philosophic development, the numerical and territorial expansion and the faith and practices of the religions of the world, both past and present.

Second term

Mr. Weeks

324. Sacred Music. See Music 324.

333. Christian Leadership. A study of the Christian ministry, the history, organization and administration of the church. Includes an introduction to forms of worship, use of the Bible, and other materials and subjects related to Christianity and the furtherance of missions.

Third term (1964-65 and alternate years)

Mr. Weeks

343. Program, Polity and Worship. A study of the program, polity and worship of the United Presbyterian Church. Arrangements may be made for students of other denominations to study their own church.

Third term (1963-64 and alternate years)

Mr. Weeks

Seminars and Individual Study

351. Field Work in Christian Education. A supervised program of practical experience in connection with Christian education programs at local churches. Open only to juniors and seniors preparing for careers in Christian education. Departmental consent required. Prerequisite or corequisite: Religion 323. Fractional credit.

Mr. Speel

401. Seminar. Open to juniors and seniors, subject to consent of the department. Topic for 1962-63: "The Middle East and Africa."

First term

Mr. Speel

412. Reading Course. On problems of interest to the student. Open only to students who include Bible and Religion in their field of concentration.

Second term

Mr. Speel

423. Thesis Course. On a subject of the students' own choosing. Open only to students who include Bible and Religion in their field of concentration.

Third term

Mr. Speel

BIOLOGY

JOHN J. KETTERER, Professor, Head

ROBERT H. BUCHHOLZ, Professor (leave of absence, 1963-64)

MILTON L. BOWMAN, Associate Professor

DAVID C. ALLISON, Assistant Professor

Field of Concentration

- (a) A departmental major of at least seven term courses in addition to Biology 101 and 102. The seven term courses must include Biology 201, 303, 305, 306, 401, and either 402 or 403. The remainder of the requirement may be satisfied by any other courses offered by the department.
- (b) Five term courses in the related fields of physics and chemistry of which the following are required: Organic Chemistry, one term; Quantitative Analysis, one term (unless excused by the adviser) and physics, two terms. A good background in mathematics is strongly urged.

101. College Biology. An introduction to biology covering the organization of living organisms, their general physiology, morphology, embryology, genetics, evolution and ecology. Appropriate animal and plant forms are studied in both lecture and laboratory. Open to all students.

First term

Staff

102. College Biology. Continuation of Biology 101. Prerequisites: Biology 101 or consent of the instructor.

Second term

Staff

201. Introductory Physiology. An introduction to the physiology of mammalian organs and organ systems. Prerequisites: Biology 101, 102, and Chemistry 101 or consent of the instructor.

First term

Mr. Buchholz

203. Genetics. An introduction to the principles of heredity in animals and plants. Prerequisites: Biology 101, 102, or consent of the instructor.

Third term (1962-63 and alternate years)

Mr. Ketterer

204. Botany. A review of the plant kingdom with emphasis on plant structure, physiology and classification. Open to all students.

Third term

Mr. Bowman

205. Nutrition. Contributions of nutrition to the health and well-being of the individual, the family and society; essentials of an adequate diet based on food requirements; nutritive values of common foods; digestion and metabolism. Prerequisite: Chemistry 101 or Biology 101.

First term (1963-64 and alternate years)

206. Ecology. An introduction to ecology designed to give the student an understanding of the principles and concepts of environmental inter-relationships and interactions with living organisms. Prerequisites: Biology 101, 102, and Biology 204 or consent of the instructor.

Third term

Mr. Bowman

208. Organic Evolution. An introduction to the theories of evolution, the mechanics of evolution, the problems of the origin of life and evolution of plants and animals. Prerequisites: Biology 101, 102, or consent of the instructor.

Third term (1963-64 and alternate years)

Mr. Ketterer

301. Bacteriology. A general course consisting of a study of culture methods, morphology, identification and physiology of the bacteria. Some consideration is also given to the nature of disease and its control. Prerequisites: Biology 101, 102, or consent of the instructor.

Second term (1964-65 and alternate years)

Mr. Ketterer

302. Histology. An introduction to vertebrate animal tissues with consideration given to the relationship of form to function. Representative tissues are studied in the laboratory. Prerequisites: Biology 101, 102.

Second term (1963-64 and alternate years)

Mr. Ketterer

303. Comparative Physiology. A comparison of animal physiological mechanisms in the muscle, nervous, endocrine, circulatory, digestive and excretory systems. The organisms will be studied in relation to ecology and the evolution of physiological function. Prerequisites: Biology 201 and Chemistry 102.

Second term

Mr. Buchholz

304. Advanced Physiology. A study of topics of current interest in basic and comparative physiology. Prerequisites: Biology 303 or consent of the instructor.

Third term

Mr. Buchholz

305. Comparative Vertebrate Anatomy. A detailed study of the comparative anatomy of vertebrates. Shark, Necturus and cat are used as types in the laboratory. Prerequisites: Biology 101, 102, or consent of the instructor.

First term

Mr. Ketterer

306. Embryology. A study of the embryological development of vertebrates. Prerequisites: Biology 305 or consent of the instructor.

Second term

Mr. Bowman

Seminars and Individual Study

401. Seminar. Readings and discussions on selected topics designed to relate the knowledge from the several branches of biology to the whole of biological knowledge and to other learned disciplines from an historical and current problems point of view. Open to senior biology majors.

First term

Staff

402. Experimental Biology. Advanced laboratory experimental work of the student's own choosing, not covered in other courses offered by the department. Detailed written reports are required. Open to senior biology majors.

Second or third term

Staff

403. Research. Original research projects, chosen by the student in consultation with the staff, involving the search of primary literature sources, design and execution of experiments, and an oral and written report of the research results. Open to senior biology majors.

Second or third term

Staff

405. Independent Study. Offered by special arrangement.

Each term

CHEMISTRY

GARRETT W. THIESSEN, Professor, Head

BERWYN E. JONES, Assistant Professor

ROBERT MEYER, Assistant Professor

Field of Concentration

(a) Chemistry 101, 102, 103, 201, 202, 203, 301, 302, 403; Physics 101, 102, 103 and Mathematics 151, 152, 251, 254. Reading knowledge of German. Related courses in astronomy, biology, geology and physics, so far as is possible.

(b) American Chemical Society Accreditation: All of the above plus Chemistry 303 and 401 or 402; as many related courses as possible in mathematics, physics, biology and geology.

101. Elementary Inorganic. Periodic Law, atomic structure, orbital picture of chemical bonds, phase rule, gas laws, and kinetic molecular theory, classical atomic and molecular weights, formulas, equations and stoichiometry, solutions, electrochemistry, oxidation-reduction. Four lectures, one lab (semimicro identification). Prerequisite: Two and one-half units of mathematics, slide rule.

First term

Mr. Thiessen

102. Descriptive Elementary Organic. General survey of organic chemistry including aliphatic and aromatic hydrocarbons, important functional groups (alcohols, carbonyls, amines, etc.), carbohydrates, amino acids and proteins, natural products. Four lectures, one lab (semimicro synthesis). Prerequisite: 101 or equivalent.

Second term

Mr. Meyer

103. Electrolytic Equilibrium. Nuclear chemistry, kinetic equilibrium, ionic equilibrium, water ph, buffers, hydrolysis, solubility products, colloids, elementary thermodynamics, complexes. Three lectures, two laboratories (separation and identification). Prerequisite: 101 or equivalent; Physics — differential and integral calculus or equivalent.

Third term

Mr. Thiessen

201. Elementary Analytical. Gravimetry, titrimetry and the physical chemical basis for analytical chemistry. Three lectures, two laboratories (gravimetry, titrimetry, physical chemical applications, colorimetry). Prerequisite: 102, 103.

First term

Mr. Jones

202. Physical Chemistry. Thermodynamics (classical and statistical), solutions, kinetic theory, liquid states, molecular structures. Four lectures, one laboratory (physical properties of elements and compounds emphasizing precision in measurement). Prerequisite: Chemistry 201 and Mathematics 254.

Second term

Mr. Jones

203. Physical Chemistry. Homogeneous and heterogeneous equilibrium, electrochemistry, elementary chemical kinetics, Schroedinger equation, quantum chemistry, molecular bonding. Four lectures, one laboratory (miscellaneous experiments in physical chemistry).

Third term

Mr. Jones

301. Advanced Organic. Chemical bonding, resonance, stereochemistry, mechanisms of reactions for aliphatic and aromatic compounds, elimination and addition reactions, molecular rearrangements, emphasis on important synthetic procedures. Three lectures, two laboratories (advanced techniques in organic synthesis). Prerequisite: 102, 201.

First term

Mr. Meyer

302. Advanced Analytical. Analytical complexes, redox theory, potentiometry, multiple stage separations, conductometric titrations, polarography. Three lectures, two laboratories (advanced techniques including instrumentation [electromagnetic waves and nuclear]). Prerequisite: 201.

Second term

Mr. Jones

303. Theoretical Inorganic. Acid-base chemistry, co-ordination chemistry, mechanisms of inorganic reactions, descriptive inorganic chemistry. Three lectures, two laboratories (emphasis on advanced techniques of inorganic synthesis). Prerequisite: 301, 203.

Third term

Mr. Meyer

401. Advanced Physical Chemistry. Advanced chemical kinetics, statistical mechanics, spectroscopy, advanced topics in physical chemistry. Four lectures, one laboratory (nuclear chemistry, instrumental analysis). Prerequisite: 302, 303.

First term

Mr. Jones

402. Theoretical Organic. Advanced mechanistic theories, Hammett and Taft equations, heterocycles, applications of electromagnetic waves to organic chemistry. Three lectures, two laboratories (qualitative inorganic analysis, including applications of infra-red and ultra-violet spectra). Prerequisite: 301, 302.

Second term

Mr. Meyer, Mr. Thiessen

403. Seminar. Survey of the chemical literature, oral presentations of modern topics in chemistry and an original research project chosen in consultation with the staff. Prerequisite: students must be chemistry majors in their senior year.

Third term

Mr. Meyer, Staff

404. Independent Study. Offered by special arrangement.

Each term

Mr. Meyer

CLASSICAL LANGUAGES

HAROLD J. RALSTON, Professor, Head
BERNICE L. FOX, Associate Professor

Latin

Field of Concentration

- (a) A departmental unit of at least seven courses in addition to Latin 101 and 102, and including 401.
- (b) Five or more related courses chosen with the approval of the adviser.

101. Elementary Latin. A study of grammar and syntax. Designed for the student beginning the study of Latin.

Second term

Miss Fox

102. Elementary Latin. A continuation of Latin 101, completing syntax and starting the reading of Latin authors.

Third term

Miss Fox

204. Vergil's Aeneid. Prerequisite: two years of high school Latin or Latin 101-102.

First term

Miss Fox

205. Cicero. Selections from the Orations and Essays. Prerequisite: two years of high school Latin or Latin 101, 102.

Second term

Miss Fox

301. Livy's Histories. Emphasis on the early kings and the Carthaginian Wars. Prerequisite: three years of high school Latin or its equivalent.

First term (1963-64 and alternate years)

Miss Fox

302. Tacitus and Suetonius. The period of the Twelve Caesars, with special study of the periods of Augustus and Nero. Prerequisite: see Latin 301.

Second term (1963-64 and alternate years)

Miss Fox

303. Pliny's Letters. Special study of Roman private life at the time of Pliny. Prerequisite: see Latin 301.

Third term (1963-64 and alternate years)

Miss Fox

310. Roman Drama. Studies in Plautus and Terence. Prerequisite: see Latin 301.

First term (1964-65 and alternate years)

Miss Fox

311. Latin Lyric Poetry. Readings from Catullus, Ovid and Horace. Prerequisite: see Latin 301.

Second term (1964-65 and alternate years)

Miss Fox

312. Roman Satire. A study of the satires of Horace and Juvenal and the epigrams of Martial. Prerequisite: see Latin 301.

Third term (1964-65 and alternate years)

Miss Fox

401. Independent Study. Individual research problems in language or literature under guidance of the instructor. Advanced students only.

By special arrangement

Miss Fox

Greek

101. Elementary Greek. A study of Greek grammar and acquisition of vocabulary.

Second term

Mr. Ralston

102. Elementary Greek. Continuation of the study of Greek grammar, with translation in Xenophon's Anabasis or other selected reading.

Third term

Mr. Ralston

201. Greek Reading. Selections from Plato's Apology and Crito, or from the Greek historians, Septuagint, Apocrypha, or non-literary papyri.

First term (1964-65 and alternate years)

Mr. Ralston

202. Greek Reading. Continuation of 201.

First term (1963-64 and alternate years)

Mr. Ralston

307. New Testament. Forms, syntax and reading. Prerequisite: Greek 101-102.

Second term (1964-65 and alternate years)

Mr. Ralston

308. New Testament. Textual and word studies and more difficult reading.

Second term (1963-64 and alternate years)

Mr. Ralston

401. Independent Study. More advanced individual study of grammar or reading under direction of the instructor.

By special arrangement

Mr. Ralston

Classical Civilization

(Given in English. No foreign language prerequisite.)

220. Roman Literature in Translation. A study of Roman literature in English translation. No prerequisites.

Third term (1963-64 and alternate years)

Miss Fox

221. Classical Mythology. A study of classical myths, especially as they relate to English literature. No prerequisites.

Third term (1964-65 and alternate years)

Miss Fox

223. Greek Civilization and Literature. Introduction to Greek life, artistic accomplishment and thought. Selections from Greek literature are read in English translation.

First term (1964-65 and alternate years)

Mr. Ralston

224. Word Elements. Intended to aid in mastering general and technical derivatives from Greek and Latin stems. No previous study of these languages required.

First term (1963-64 and alternate years)

Mr. Ralston

EAST ASIAN STUDIES PROGRAM

CECIL C. BRETT, Director, Associate Professor of Government and History

The Monmouth College Board of Directors authorized the establishment of an East Asian Studies program effective September, 1963. This decision was based on the assumption that study of peoples and cultures outside the Western world is a necessary dimension of a liberal education. The underlying objective of the program is to broaden the opportunities for study of non-Western societies available to the entire range of Monmouth students.

The first stage of this new dimension to the academic program makes modest provision to encourage students as a normal part of their academic course work to come in contact with some ideas and institutions of Asian civilizations as well as with some of the literary and philosophical work of the oriental traditions. Each course is designed to supply the insights of a particular discipline to non-Western societies of east Asia.

201. History of Oriental Civilizations, I.

202. History of Oriental Civilizations, II.

301. Modern China. See History 301.

302. Modern Japan. See History 302.

303. Modern India. See History 303.

306. Oriental Philosophy. See Philosophy 306.

322. World Religions. See Religion 322.

343. Foreign Governments, III. See Government 343.

Economics and Business Administration

JAMES R. HERBSLEB, Professor, Head
 GANGADHAR S. KORI, Visiting Professor
 ROBERT ADUDDLELL, Instructor
 HOMER L. SHOEMAKER, Instructor

Field of Concentration

The field of concentration may be either in Economics or Business Administration, or these areas may be combined:

- (a) Concentration in Economics requires the following courses: 305, 306, 300, 301, 309, 311, 401 and Statistics. Additional electives available would be Economics 302, 303, 310 and a Survey of Accounting (independent study).

Economics 200, 201 are required and may be used to satisfy Division II requirements, but are not included in the field of concentration.

- (b) Concentration in Business Administration requires the following courses: 203, 204, 307, 308, 320, 321, or 322, 401 and Statistics. Additional electives available would be Economics 100, 322, 323, 205, 206, 324.

Economics 200, 201 are required and may be used to satisfy Division II requirements, but are not included in the field of concentration.

- (c) Combined Economics and Business Administration curricula require the following courses: Survey of Accounting (independent study) or Economics 203, 204, 401, and other additional courses taken with the advice and consent of the adviser to complete the major.

Economics 200, 201 are required and may be used to satisfy Division II requirements, but are not included in the field of concentration.

200. Principles of Economics. The two-term sequence (Economics 200-201) is designed to equip the student with a fundamental and rigorous understanding of the methods and objectives of economic analysis. The course provides an intensive, orderly and objective set of basic relationships within which real world economic problems and policy questions may be analyzed.
First term Mr. Aduddell, Mr. Kori

201. Principles of Economics. A continuation of Economics 200. Prerequisite: Economics 200.

Second term

Mr. Aduddell, Mr. Kori

384. History of the South. A study in regional history. Emphasis on the social and economic life of the South from 1800 to 1880.

Third term (1963-64 and alternate years)

Mr. Davenport

Seminars and Individual Study

400. Junior Seminar. Introduction to historical method and research. Individual projects. Required of all history majors in the junior year.

First term

Mr. Davenport

402. Soviet Civilization. Individual projects in the political and cultural life of the USSR. Conducted on the seminar plan. Prerequisite: History 344.

Third term

Mr. Spitz

404. Studies in American Civilization. (See also English 404 and Sociology 404). An integrated historical, social and cultural interpretation of life, thought and institutions in the United States since 1870. Individual projects. Open only to English, history and sociology majors selected by the chairmen of the three departments.

Third term

Mr. Davenport, Mr. Morrill, Mrs. Sanmann

408. Senior Seminar. Individualized study in American or European history. Required of all history majors in the senior year.

Field of Concentration

- (a) A major in mathematics shall consist of a minimum of: Mathematics 151, 152, 251, 252, 254, 311, 312, 301, 302 and a seminar or independent study course.
- (b) Students who complete the teacher certification requirements may obtain a major in mathematics consisting of at least ten term courses including mathematics 151, 152, 251, 311, 312, 316 or 401, and a seminar or independent study course.
- (c) Five related courses from one or two other subjects approved by the department.

NOTE: No course numbered below 151 will be counted toward a major in mathematics.

100. Introduction to Mathematics. The number system, sets, axioms, classical and modern geometry, functions and graphs.

105. Mathematics of Finance. Interest, discount, annuities, amortization, sinking funds, bonds, depreciation, elements of actuarial science. Prerequisite: Mathematics 111 or equivalent.

106. Elementary Statistics. A study of central tendency and variability; frequency, binominal, normal and chi-square distributions; correlation and regression; and analysis of variance and applications in related fields. This course usually not open to students who have had Mathematics 152. Prerequisite: Mathematics 100 or equivalent.

110. Essentials of Mathematics. Fundamental operations with natural numbers, inequalities, decimal numbers, percentage, measurement, irrational numbers. Designed for students preparing to teach elementary school mathematics. Enrollment limited to students who have had little or no college mathematics.

131. Principles of Mathematics. Review of some topics in algebra, functions, trigonometric functions and systems of equations. Prerequisite: two and one-half units of high school mathematics.

151. Analytic Geometry and Calculus I. Elements of analytic geometry and of the calculus of functions of one variable. Prerequisite: three and one-half units of high school mathematics or Mathematics 131.

152. Analytic Geometry and Calculus II. A continuation of 151. Prerequisite: Mathematics 151.

251. Analytic Geometry and Calculus III. Continuation of Mathematics 152. Prerequisite: Mathematics 152.

252. Analytic Geometry and Calculus IV. Infinite series, partial derivatives, multiple integrals, introduction to differential equations. Prerequisite: Mathematics 251.

254. Differential Equations. An introduction to ordinary differential equations and their applications. Prerequisite: Mathematics 252.

301. Advanced Calculus. A theoretical development of the calculus of one and several variables including topological concepts, limit theorems, differentiation, integration, series, pointwise convergence and uniform convergence. Prerequisite: Mathematics 252.

302. Advanced Calculus. Continuation of Mathematics 301. Prerequisite: Mathematics 301.

306. Applied Mathematics. Vector analysis, Laplace transform, numerical solutions of ordinary differential equations, partial differential equations, boundary value problems, problems from mathematical physics. Prerequisite: Mathematics 254.

307. Applied Mathematics. Continuation of Mathematics 306. Prerequisite: Mathematics 306.

311. Introduction to Modern Algebra. Rings, integral domains, fields, groups, determinants and matrices. Prerequisite: Mathematics 152.

312. Introduction to Modern Algebra. A continuation of 311. Prerequisite: Mathematics 311.

315. Theory of Numbers. The properties of the whole numbers, divisibility, diophantine equations, prime numbers, congruences, residues, additive number theory. Prerequisite: Mathematics 152.

316. College Geometry. Foundations of plane geometry, geometric constructions, use of loci, fundamental theorems, the harmonic range, systems of circles, inversion. Prerequisite: Mathematics 152.

339. Probability and Statistics. Probability, mathematical expectation, sampling, distributions, testing hypotheses, regression and correlation, analysis of variance. Prerequisite: Mathematics 152.

340. Probability and Statistics. Continuation of Mathematics 339. Prerequisite: Mathematics 339.

341. Functions of a Complex Variable. Algebra of complex numbers, limits, differentiation, analytic functions, integration, series, residues, conformal mappings. Prerequisite or co-requisite: Mathematics 302.

401. Projective Geometry. An axiomatic approach to projective geometry. Prerequisite: Mathematics 152.

411. Introduction to Topology. Metric spaces, general topological spaces, compactness, separation and connectedness. Prerequisite: Mathematics 302.

412. Introduction to Topology. Continuation of Mathematics 411. Prerequisite: Mathematics 411.

421. Independent Study and Seminar. Selected topics in advanced mathematics. Prerequisite: Mathematics 301.

422. Independent Study and Seminar. A continuation of 421.

Astronomy 202. Introduction to Astronomy. A non-laboratory course dealing with basic facts and principles of astronomy.

Engineering 101. Engineering drawing and descriptive geometry. Use of instruments, orthographic projections, dimensioning, sectioning and pictorial drawing. Representation of points, lines, planes and curved surfaces with applications.

Mr. Cramer

Engineering 102. A continuation of Engineering 101.

Mr. Cramer

Engineering 203. Surveying. Plane and topographical surveying with field work in the use of tape, level and transit. Prerequisite: Mathematics 112 or equivalent.

Engineering 207. Analytic Mechanics. See Physics 207.

Field of Concentration

- (a) A departmental unit of at least seven term courses, selected with the aid of a departmental counselor, that covers the significant periods of the literature and other aspects of the spoken and written language. Evidence of ability to develop a given linguistic or literary subject involving research, organization and critical judgment through at least one independent study course.
- (b) Five related courses chosen from one or two fields with the approval of the adviser.

Students are encouraged to participate in the foreign study program which provides for a summer, a term, or a year in a foreign country. Contacts in the past have been made with Universite Laval, Quebec; Mexico City College; National University of Mexico; the Sorbonne; Heidelberg; and Freiburg i. Br. Candidates for foreign study must be approved by the department and programs must be planned well in advance.

On the basis of placement examinations, recommendations for courses are made to students who wish to continue a language studied in high school. A proficiency examination provides a means of meeting the foreign language requirement for graduation.

French

101. Elementary. Introduction to spoken and written French. Attention to pronunciation with practice in using the language. Laboratory facilities provide authentic speech patterns. This course builds a foundation for reading the language.

First or second term

Staff

102. Elementary. A continuation of 101.

Each term

Staff

201. Intermediate. Selected readings of modern literature, with conversational approach. Continued emphasis on oral and written expression, aided by laboratory practice. Introduction to French contributions to the arts and sciences, illustrated by films, slides, tapes and discs.

Each term

Staff

202. Intermediate. A continuation of 201.

Second or third term

Staff

299. Conversation and composition. Practice in fluent speech and correct writing, with discussions and oral and written reports from selected authors and French-language periodicals.

First term

Mlle. Lerond

301. The Novel. Background of the French novel, followed by the interpretation and analysis of outstanding modern authors such as Balzac, Flaubert, Proust and Gide. Use of literary recordings.

First term (1963-64 and alternate years)

Staff

305. Short Story and Essay. Study of: a) the French short story as a literary genre, represented by Maupassant and Anatole France; b) the essay, introduced by Montaigne and cultivated by La Bruyere; and c) criticism by Sainte-Beuve.

Second term (1963-64 and alternate years)

Staff

306. French Theatre. A study of the genres of French classical tragedy and comedy. Study and analysis of the works of Corneille, Racine, Moliere and Voltaire. Alternates with 307.

Second term (1964-65 and alternate years)

Staff

307. French Theatre. Drama of the nineteenth and twentieth century playwrights including Hugo, Musset, Giraudoux, Camus and Sartre.

First term (1964-65 and alternate years)

Staff

308. Moliere. Reading, analysis and discussions of selected plays with emphasis on the classical aspects of language and style.

Third term (1964-65 and alternate years)

Mlle. Lerond

319. Mediterranean Culture, 1500-1650. Aesthetic aspects of the Mediterranean world as reflected in literature, architecture, painting and sculpture. Correlation of historical background. Reading from French, Italian and Spanish literature in the original or in translation. Collaboration with the art and foreign language departments.

Second term (1963-64 and alternate years) Miss Donald, Mrs. Hamilton

320. Individual or Group Study. Specialized study, under guidance of the instructor, of certain aspects or periods of French literature, i.e., Medieval literature, the "Encyclopedists," French lyrics, memoirs and letters, contemporary literature.

Each term

Staff

401. Independent Study. Individual research problems under guidance of the instructor.

Each term

Staff

460. Methods of Teaching Modern Foreign Languages. Discussion, observation and practice in the field of foreign language teaching. Introduction to phonetics and linguistics. Attention given to teaching in elementary grades and practice with audio-visual aids.

Third term (1963-64 and alternate years)

Miss Donald

Reading in the Field of Concentration. See Chemistry 404, Biology 401 and Physics 401. In such courses the department acts as consultant for French-language material.

Staff

German

101. Elementary. An introduction to the German language, with emphasis on pronunciation and comprehension. Laboratory practice supplements classroom instruction. A foundation for reading and writing the language.

First or second term

Miss Blaas, Mr. Struth

102. Elementary. A continuation of 101.

Second or third term

Miss Blaas, Mr. Struth

201. Intermediate. Extensive reading of modern literature. Continued attention to written expression through diary, letter and essay writing; further practice in conversation through class and laboratory work. Acquaintance with essential aspects of German culture, through such media as monthly German newsreels.

First or third term

Miss Blass, Mr. Struth

202. Intermediate. A continuation of 201.

First or second term

Miss Blaas, Mr. Struth

202S. Intermediate Scientific. Reading and discussion of scientific texts, biographies of scientists and a leading German newspaper. Use of German scientific films, tapes and discs (from Institut für Film und Bild). Primarily for science majors.

First or second term

Miss Blaas

299. Conversation and Composition. Concentrated training in fluent speech and correct writing. Practice with such material as book reviews and written and oral reports in the field of art and music.

Third term

Miss Blaas

301. Introduction to the Study of German Literature. A study of the major works and movements in German literature from the Early Period to the Age of Enlightenment. Extensive use of phonograph records of the "literatur-archiv." Prerequisites: 201-202 or the equivalent.

First term

Miss Blaas

302. Introduction to the Study of German Literature. A continuation of 301 concentrating on the Classical Period through the early twentieth century.

Second term

Miss Blaas

320. Individual or Group Study. Specialized study, under guidance of the instructor, of certain aspects of German literature. Prerequisite: a 300 course or consent of the instructor.

Each term

Miss Blaas

401. Independent Study. Individual research problems under guidance of the instructor. Preparation for studies in Germany.

Each term

Miss Blaas

460. Methods of Teaching German. See French 460.Third term upon requestMiss Blaas

Reading in the Field of Concentration. See Chemistry. 404, Biology 401 and Physics 401. In such courses the department of German acts as consultant for German-language material.

Spanish

101. Elementary. An introduction to Spanish as a spoken and written language. Regular practice in the classroom and laboratory in hearing and imitating current, realistic speech. Four-fold aim of speaking, comprehending, reading and writing the language.

First or second termStaff

102. Elementary. A continuation of 101.

Each termStaff

203. Intermediate. Continued emphasis on the spoken and written language, aimed toward adequate oral and written expression. Readings from modern literature, with analysis and interpretation. Acquaintance with cultural aspects of Spain and Spanish America.

Each termStaff

204. Intermediate. A continuation of 203.

Each termStaff

299. Conversation and Composition. Further development of fluency in handling the spoken and written language. Subject matter for practice includes literature, geography, current history and other phases of Hispanic civilization. Use of periodicals, records and tapes. Required of majors or substituted by proficiency test.

First or third termMr. Serrano

305. Modern Spanish Literature. Brief studies of Spanish peninsular literature of the nineteenth and twentieth centuries. The first course deals with prose, emphasizing Perez Galdos, Generation of '98 and Ortega y Gasset. Alternates with 307 and 308.

First term (1964-65 and alternate years)Miss Donald

306. Modern Spanish Literature. A continuation of 305. The study of the Romantic movement in drama and poetry; Benavente, pre-civil war poets and contemporary poets and playwrights. Alternates with 307 and 308.

Second term (1964-65 and alternate years)Miss Donald

307. Spanish American Literature. A consideration of the search for identity of the rising Spanish American nations through their literature. The first course deals with prose, emphasizing such essayists as Rodo, Henriquez Urena, Vasconcelos and Alfonso Reyes. Alternates with 305 and 306.

First term (1963-64 and alternate years)Staff

308. Spanish American Literature. A continuation of 307 dealing with poetry and poetic prose, from Araucana epic to contemporary poets including Neruda, Borges and Torres Bodet. Alternate years with 305 and 306.

Second term (1963-64 and alternate years)Staff

315. Drama of the Golden Age. A study of selected plays of Lope de Vega, Calderon Tirso de Molina and Alarcon with analysis of dramatic structure and ideological concepts of the age. Prerequisite: 300 course. Alternates with 316.

Third term (1964-65 and alternate years)

Staff

316. Cervantes. A study of Cervantes' masterpiece Don Quijote, in addition to the Novelas ejemplares. Consideration of the life, character and milieu of the author. Prerequisite: 300 course. Alternates with 315.

Third term (1963-64 and alternate years)

MUSIC

HEIMO A. LOYA, Professor, Head

ELWOOD BALL, Assistant Professor

PAUL R. GRISCHKE, Instructor

PAUL LYDDON, Assistant Professor and Artist-in-Residence

DOUGLAS PETERSON, Instructor

GRACE GAWTHROP PETERSON, Instructor

It is the aim of the Music Department to provide:

1. Opportunities in performance and classwork for any student to develop an understanding and appreciation of music.
2. A four-year course for students whose interest leads them to concentrate in music as an end in itself or as preparation for graduate study and a professional career.
3. A four-year course which will comply with state requirements in both music and education for students who wish to become supervisors or teachers of music in elementary and secondary schools.

Field of Concentration

- (a) A departmental unit of at least the following courses: Music 102, 103, 201, 202, 321, 322, and two courses in Applied Music (private lessons).
- (b) At least five related courses chosen with the approval of the adviser.

NOTE: A general major should carry, in addition to the above, Music 203, 303, 401 and 402.

A student concentrating in performance should carry two additional courses in Applied Music: Music 203, 401 and 402.

A student preparing for certification in Music Education should carry 311, 312 and 313 or 303 and 314, and another course in Applied Music, as well as the necessary courses in the Education department.

101. Introduction to Music. This course is designed to develop an understanding of music through a study of musical materials, principles of organization and historical styles. Open to all students: those with little or no musical experience should enroll in Section A: prospective majors and those with considerable musical training, Section B.

Each term

Staff

102. Theory of Music I. An approach to the elements of music—melody, harmony, rhythm and form—as employed during the functional harmonic period (eighteenth and nineteenth centuries) through the development of skills in hearing, singing, keyboard, writing and analysis.

Second term

Mr. Lyddon

103. Theory of Music II. A continuation of Music 102.

Third term

Mr. Lyddon

201. Theory of Music III. Advanced Harmony. A continuation of Music 103.

First term

Mr. Lyddon

202. Theory of Music IV. Counterpoint. The principles of modern counterpoint. Analysis and composition of two- and three-part inventions.

Second term

Mr. Lyddon

203. Canon and Fugue. A continuation of Music 202. Advanced study in contrapuntal writing, based on the analysis of the fugues of Bach. The use of fugal devices in classic and modern composition.

Third term (1964-65 and alternate years)

Mr. Ball

301. Composition I. Creative work in small forms and for various mediums. Includes study and analysis of contemporary techniques. Individual study.

First term (1964-65 and alternate years)

Mr. Loya

302. Composition II. Continuation of Music 301. Individual study.

Second term (1964-65 and alternate years)

Mr. Loya

303. Orchestration. Study of the characteristics and potential of orchestral instruments, and of their combination in small groups and in the full orchestra. Arranging original compositions for musical groups on the campus. Individual study.

Third term (1964-65 and alternate years)

Mr. Loya

311. Conducting. Principles and methods of conducting. Technique of the baton. Interpretive study of both choral and instrumental scores. Practical experience in conducting musical groups on the campus.

First term (1964-65 and alternate years)

Mr. Peterson

312. Teaching Music in the Elementary Schools. Music fundamentals, teaching skills and actual teaching methods at different age levels. A comprehensive coverage of music requirements for prospective elementary teachers with special emphasis on singing and functional piano technique.

Third term (1964-65 and alternate years)

313. Choral Techniques. Teaching and administration of vocal music in secondary schools. The general music program, the changing voice, instructional problems and materials for vocal ensembles and operetta production.

Second term (1964-65 and alternate years)

Mr. Peterson

314. Instrumental Techniques. Teaching and administration of instrumental music in public schools. Techniques of group instruction, materials and equipment. Principles and methods of conducting school orchestras and bands, to include an intensive survey of the literature.

Third term (1963-64 and alternate years)

Mr. Loya

321. History and Literature of Music I. Study of works, styles, and musical activity from earliest times to the sixteenth century, including the study of the relationship of the art to contemporary, social, cultural and political circumstances. Emphasis on aural appreciation of style, evolution throughout history. Primarily for music majors. Others with the consent of the instructor.

First term (1963-64 and alternate years)

Mr. Peterson

322. History and Literature of Music II. Continuation of Music 321. From the sixteenth century to the present.

Second term (1963-64 and alternate years)

Mr. Peterson

323. Twentieth Century Music. A study of the contemporary trends in music as manifested in the works of such composers as Stravinsky, Schoenberg, Prokofieff, Hindemith, Bartok, Copeland and Barber and an evaluation of the Jazz idiom. Designed to give students a background for intelligent appreciation and understanding of modern music. Prerequisite: 101 or consent of the instructor.

Third term (1963-64 and alternate years)

Mr. Peterson

324. Sacred Music. Music specifically related to the Protestant church. Major sacred works from all periods are heard and discussed. A portion of the term's work is devoted to a critical appraisal of the standard church repertory of anthems, larger choral works, organ literature and hymns. Provision is made in this part of the course for the student to pursue detailed studies pertinent to his major interest.

Second term (1963-64 and alternate years)

Mr. Ball

Seminars and Individual Study

401. Seminar. Primarily for junior and senior majors in music. Areas of study will include topics of special interest to the student, with extensive independent reading and required weekly reports.

First term

Staff

402. Independent Study. Research in an area of specialization. Open only to students completing a major in music.

Second or third term

Staff

Applied Music

Private Lessons. Instruction in solo performance is offered on a uniform basis of one 30-minute individual lesson and one class meeting weekly, with a minimum of one hour's practice daily, for one-sixth credit each term. Music majors may elect to combine two one-sixth units (on a basis of two half-hour lessons and a class period per week) with a minimum of two hours practice daily for one-third credit each term. No credit will be given until the equivalent of a full course has been completed.

Odd numbers indicate a one-sixth credit per term; even numbers, one-third credit.

PHILOSOPHY

SAMUEL M. THOMPSON, Professor, Head
J. PRESCOTT JOHNSON, Associate Professor

Field of Concentration

- (a) A departmental unit of at least seven terms in philosophy including either 301, 302 or 303, 304 and two terms of individual study.
- (b) Five related courses chosen from one or two fields with the approval of the adviser.

101. Introduction to Philosophy. An introduction to the general field and methods of philosophy, and the basic problems in the philosophy of science and the philosophy of man and human culture.

Each term

Mr. Thompson

102. Introduction to Logic. A study of logical relations with special emphasis upon the development of skill in the logical control and evaluation of thinking.

Second and third terms

Mr. Johnson

210. Advanced Logic. Techniques of symbolic logic and problems of logical theory. Prerequisite: Philosophy 101.

First term

Mr. Johnson

213. Philosophy of Religion. A study of philosophical problems raised by basic religious beliefs and concepts. Open without prerequisite to all students except freshmen. This course is also listed under the Department of Bible and Religion, and may be used to satisfy Bible and Religion requirements.

Third term

Mr. Thompson

301. Greek and Medieval Philosophy. A study of the development of Greek and medieval philosophy, with emphasis on Plato, Aristotle, Augustine and Thomas Aquinas. Special attention will be given to the historical roots of contemporary problems. Prerequisite: 101, or junior or senior standing.

First term (1963-64 and alternate years)

Mr. Thompson

302. Modern Philosophy. A continuation of 301, but may be taken by students who have not had 301. A study of the major philosophers from the Renaissance to the present century. Prerequisite: 101, or junior or senior standing.

Second term (1963-64 and alternate years)

Mr. Johnson

303. Ethics. An analysis of basic moral concepts and a study of their application in personal choice and decision, and of the principal historical and contemporary ethical theories. Prerequisite: 101, or junior or senior standing.

First term (1964-65 and alternate years)

Mr. Johnson

304. Political Philosophy. Theories concerning the nature of the state, the nature of law, the authority of the state and political obligation. A comparison of competing political philosophies. Prerequisite: 101, or junior or senior standing.

Second term

Mr. Thompson

305. Contemporary Philosophy. Twentieth century philosophy, its roots in nineteenth century thought, and present issues in Anglo-American and European philosophy. Prerequisite: 301 and 302, or consent of the instructor.

Second term (1964-65 and alternate years)

406. Philosophy of History. A study of theories concerning the nature of historical knowledge and an examination of their assumptions. Seminar or independent study. Prerequisite: Philosophy 301, 302.

By special arrangement

411. Junior Independent Study. Individual reading, reports and papers in areas of special interest to the student. Prerequisite: four courses in philosophy.

Second term

412. Junior Independent Study. A continuation of 411.

Third term

421. Senior Independent Study. Continuation of Philosophy 411 and 412, culminating normally in the preparation of a senior thesis. Prerequisite: Philosophy 412.

Second term

422. Senior Independent Study. A continuation of 421. Prerequisite: 421.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

JOSEPH PELISEK, Assistant Professor, Acting Head

ROBERT WOLL, Associate Professor, Director of Athletics

HENRY ANDREW, Assistant Professor

P. O. SMITH, Assistant Professor

MARGARET JONES, Instructor

MARY FLEMING, Instructor

The Physical Education Department aims to provide opportunities for students to grow in an environment that is physically stimulating; socially, emotionally and morally beneficial. This is accomplished by providing activities for every interest and all ranges of ability to satisfy recreational needs both now and for the future under competent guidance.

The curriculum in physical education for men and women is designed to prepare students for teaching physical education, health, safety, coaching athletics and intramural sports and directing recreational activities.

Field of Concentration

- (a) A departmental major of at least seven term courses chosen from the department, including the following courses: 202, 303, 305, 309, 455.
- (b) Two term courses in biology, consisting of Biology 101, 102. Sufficient hours in education and psychology to satisfy state requirements for teachers of physical education. Consult the Education Department.

- (c) Related courses totaling at least five terms chosen from one or two subjects which the student is preparing to teach, after consultation with the adviser.
- (d) Majors in physical education are required to enroll in 12 terms of service classes numbered 100.
- (e) A minor in the field of physical education must complete five term courses including 305.

Intercollegiate Athletics

Intercollegiate competition is carried on in baseball, basketball, cross-country, football, golf, swimming, tennis, track and wrestling.

College Requirement

Freshmen and sophomores are required to complete six terms of satisfactory work in physical education (in courses numbered 100-190) unless excused. Individual exemptions from this requirement for a term at a time will be made by the director of the college health service for medical reasons. Passing a swimming test or receiving credit for a swimming course is a graduation requirement for all students.

A maximum of six term courses in physical education (100-190) will be counted towards graduation.

199. Principles and History of Physical Education. An introductory course in the fundamentals of physical education. Primarily for students intending to go into the field of physical education. Covers the problems of the field as well as the philosophy, aims and objectives of physical education. Includes historic development of physical education, including contributions of the various great cultures.

Staff

202. Teaching of Rhythmic Activities. Designed to prepare men and women physical education majors to teach folk, square and social dance in the junior and senior high school.

Staff

210. Anatomy and Physiology. A study of the structure and function of the human body with specific consideration to normal muscular activity.

Staff

220. Methods of Physical Education in the Elementary School. Methods of teaching physical education in elementary grades with specific emphasis on program content.

Staff

300. Men's — Methods of Coaching and Management of Interscholastic Sports. Lectures and demonstrations in the fundamentals of football, basketball, track and wrestling. Management of athletics, team play in interscholastic sports and treatment of injuries is stressed. Intended to aid students who plan to coach in high schools.

Staff

301. Men's — Methods of Coaching and Management of Interscholastic Sports. A continuation of 300.

Staff

302. Men's — Methods of Coaching and Management of Interscholastic Sports. A continuation of 301.

Staff

303. Methods and Analysis of Teaching Physical Education Activities. Principles and techniques of teaching physical education activities with particular emphasis on the analysis of individual and team sports.

Staff

305. Organization and Administration of Physical Education in the Secondary Schools. The philosophy of physical education and organization of a high school physical education program. For teachers, supervisors and administrators of physical education and athletics in the public schools.

Staff

307. Care and Prevention of Athletic Injuries. For physical education majors who plan to enter the coaching profession. Cause, prevention and cure of injuries most common to competitive sports. Prerequisite: consent of instructor.

Staff

309. Correctives and Adaptives. A study of the human body with respect to injuries most likely to occur in physical education classes and interscholastic athletics. Analysis of human motion, mechanically and anatomically, to include practical body mechanics, corrective exercising and postural training.

Staff

310. Kinesiology. A mechanical and anatomical analysis of human motion. Prerequisite: Physical Education 210.

Staff

315. Mental and Physical Health in Family Living. See Sociology 315.

400. Independent Study. Individual research problems under guidance of the instructor.

By special arrangement

Staff

455. Methods and Curriculum of Health Education. For those responsible in any way for health instruction in the public school. Special consideration given to the selection of material and methods of instruction in establishing primary health habits. Emphasis will be given to drawing up a course of study which will be in line with the Illinois Health and Physical Education law.

Staff

Physical Education Service Classes

These classes are designed to meet the college requirement in Physical Education. Instruction is given in fundamental skills, techniques and participation in individual sports and team games.

PHYSICS

LYLE W. FINLEY, Professor, Head

CHARLES E. SKOV, Associate Professor

PAUL CRAMER, Associate Professor

JAMES H. MCALLISTER, Associate Professor (Sabbatical Leave, 1963-64)

Field of Concentration

- (a) A departmental major of at least seven term courses numbered 103 or higher and including Physics 308 and at least two other courses numbered above 300.
- (b) Five related courses chosen from one or two departments and approved by the physics department.

101. General Physics. Fundamentals of mechanics, heat and sound. Four class meetings and one laboratory period per week. Corequisite: Mathematics 151.

First term

Mr. Finley

101e. General Physics. Fundamentals of mechanics, heat and sound. Four class meetings and one laboratory period per week. Prerequisite: three years of high school mathematics or concurrent registration in college mathematics.

First term

Mr. Skov

102. General Physics. Fundamentals of electricity and magnetism. A continuation of Physics 101. Corequisite: Mathematics 152.

Second term

Mr. Finley

102e. General Physics. Fundamentals of electricity and magnetism. A continuation of Physics 101e.

Mr. Skov

103. General Physics. Fundamentals of optics and atomic physics. A continuation of Physics 101, 102. Prerequisite: Physics 102, Mathematics 152. (Students who have finished 102e may be admitted to Physics 103 with the consent of the instructor provided they have adequate mathematical background. These students will be required to perform extra work.)

Third term

Mr. Finley

207. Analytic Mechanics. Statics, coplanar forces in space, centroids, center of gravity, friction, moment of inertia, introduction to dynamics.

Prerequisites: Mathematics 152, Physics 103.

First term

Mr. Cramer

208. Analytic Mechanics. Dynamics, rectilinear motion, curvilinear motion and rotation, work, energy and power, dynamics of rotating bodies, plane motion, impulse, momentum and impact. Prerequisites: Physics 207, Mathematics 251.

Second term

Mr. Skov

209. Electronics. Electron dynamics, emission, space charge, vacuum tubes and circuit analysis, amplifiers, voltage multiplication, feedback, noise, oscillators. Four class meetings and one laboratory period each week. Prerequisite: Physics 102 or 102e; Physics 103 recommended.

First term

Mr. Skov

301. Light. Geometric and physical optics. Reflection, refraction, optical instruments, interference, diffraction, dispersion, polarization, laws of radiation, atomic and molecular spectra. Prerequisites: Physics 103, Mathematics 251.

Third term

Mr. Finley

303. Electricity and Magnetism. An intermediate course in principles of electricity and magnetism and electrical measurements. Four class meetings and one laboratory period per week. Prerequisites: Physics 103, Mathematics 254, 309.

Second term

Mr. Skov

304. Electricity and Magnetism. A continuation of the study of the principles of electricity and magnetism. Prerequisite: Physics 303.

Third term

Mr. Skov

305. Thermodynamics. An introductory course in the principles of thermodynamics. Prerequisites: Physics 103, Mathematics 251.

First term

Mr. Finley

308. Atomic Physics. Properties of fundamental particles, atomic energy levels, excitation and emission phenomena, X-ray spectra, periodic arrangement of atoms, radioactivity, isotopes, nuclear structures, transmutations. Prerequisites: Physics 103, Mathematics 251.

Second term

Mr. Finley

309. Vector Analysis. See Mathematics 309.

310. Electronics. An intermediate course in electronics. Prerequisites: Physics 209, Mathematics 254.

Third term (1963-64 and alternate years)

311. Theoretical Physics. Various topics including the special theory of relativity and an introduction to quantum mechanics. Prerequisites: Physics 208, Mathematics 254.

Third term

Mr. Skov

401. Seminar. Special topics in physics. Prerequisite: six courses in physics.

By special arrangement

Staff

403. Advanced Applied Mathematics. See Mathematics 403.

404. Advanced Applied Mathematics. See Mathematics 404.

410. Independent Study. Special topics in advanced theoretical or experimental physics. Prerequisite: seven courses in physics.

PSYCHOLOGY

THOMAS J. ERWIN, Assistant Professor

Field of Concentration

- (a) A departmental unit of at least seven term courses in psychology including 212, 221, 222 and either 311 or 401, together with necessary preliminary courses in biology and mathematics. Work in physics including sound and light is strongly recommended.
- (b) Five courses chosen from one or two related fields with the approval of the adviser. Suggested fields include biology, sociology, philosophy and mathematics.

212. Elementary Statistics. (See Mathematics 212).

221. General Psychology. Introductory study of the fundamental types of experience and behavior. Open to upperclassmen and third-term freshmen. Prerequisite to all other courses in psychology.

First or third term

Staff

222. Experimental Method. Introduction to methodology in psychology. Statistics, experimental design and theory construction are presented, discussed and implemented in the laboratory.

Second term

Mr. Erwin

223. Abnormal Psychology. Personality disorders and maladjustments, with discussion of the clinical approach to psychotherapy.

Second term (1964-65 and alternate years)

Mr. Ralston

225. Developmental Psychology. Principles of development through childhood and adolescence stressing maturation, concept formation, learning, the concept of readiness and developmental schedules.

First term

Mr. Erwin

301. Perception. The psychology of sensation and perception. Comparative and physiological data in sensation. Laboratory.

Third term (1964-65 and alternate years)

Staff

302. Motivation. A survey of how motivation acts to produce behavior. Includes discussion of primary and secondary drive, hierarchy, and emotional theories of motivation. Laboratory.

Second term (1964-65 and alternate years)

Mr. Erwin

303. Abilities. A study of human abilities and their measurement and the nature and factors involved in individual differences. Laboratory.

Third term (1963-64 and alternate years)

Staff

304. Social Psychology. The relation of personality to society and culture. Attention is given to the psychological aspects of human conflict and mass behavior.

Second term (1963-64 and alternate years)

Mr. Ralston

305. Learning. The process and principles of learning. Includes experimental findings, theories and applications in the educational field. Laboratory.

Second term (1964-65 and alternate years)

Mr. Erwin

306. Cognition. A study of the more complex phenomena in behavior, such as concept formation, symbolic processes, thought and language, decision making and creative processes. Laboratory.

Third term (1964-65 and alternate years)

Mr. Erwin

309. Problems in Personality. A study of the history and systems of psychology as they relate to the nature of human personality.

By special arrangement

Staff

311. Seminar. Assigned readings, oral and written reports and group discussion on pertinent problems in psychology. Open to majors or those who have had five courses in the field.

By special arrangement

Staff

401. Independent Study. Directed individual study on selected topics in psychology. Weekly written reports and conferences. Required of students majoring in psychology.

By special arrangement

Staff

402. Independent Study. A continuation of 401.

By special arrangement

Staff

403. Advanced Experimental Psychology. A detailed survey of the data, theories and methods of psychology. Basic areas of the curriculum are integrated to attempt to present a unified view of psychology. The laboratory is devoted to original research or repetition of previous experimentation of questionable validity.

By special arrangement

Staff

404. Advanced Experimental Psychology. A continuation of 403.

By special arrangement

SOCIOLOGY

MADGE STEWART SANMANN, Professor, Head

ERNEST H. SHIDELER, Visiting Professor

Field of Concentration

(a) One sociology course at the sophomore level, Sociology 301, and 401 or 402.

(b) Courses selected from those numbered 300 or above.

Anthropology 201. Introduction to Anthropology. Brief review of pre-historic race, language and culture, economic and social institutions, religion, art, attitudes and values of native peoples.

First term

Sociology 203. Societies Around the World. A comprehensive, systematic study of the chief types of societies, ranging from the primitive to the advanced industrial, in the major habitats of the world. One society is compared with another as a whole and specifically in terms of the origin of the people, their physical environment, economic system, government, religion, family life, social organization, structure, ideology and socio-cultural change.

Second term

206. The Family. A study of the family as a social institution: its forms, functions, development, organization, factors of disorganization and trends.

First term

301. Introduction to Sociology. Introductory analysis and description of the structure and dynamics of human society. Application of scientific methods to the observation and analysis of composition, social norms, group behavior, social stratification, social institutions and social change.

First term

302. Social Problems. Introductory survey of sociological aspects of important modern social problems. Emphasis on social interrelationship and cultural differences involved in their genesis, significance and amelioration or prevention. Library reading and special reports. Prerequisite: Sociology 301 or consent of instructor.

Second term

304. Home and Family Life. Analysis of psychological and sociological aspects of home and family life. Consideration of necessary early adjustments to significant interpersonal changes basic in the achievement of companionship and emotional interdependence. The development of economic insight, planning and management basic in the economic contribution to family cohesion. Emphasis on individual fulfillment and family unity. Prerequisite: Sociology 206 or consent of instructor.

Second term

305. Population in Transition in the United States: Demography. A study of the composition, distribution, movements and cultural patterns of population and ethnic groups in the United States and its various regions. Attention given to scientific analysis of problems and trends.

First term

306. Social Stratification. System of social ranking with emphasis on class structure of the United States; power, prestige and privilege as related to class differences; the culture and styles of life in different classes, status as determinant of personality, interaction and development; effect of social change and mobility. Prerequisite: Sociology 301.

Second term

308. Sociology of the Community. Nature, structure and functions of various types of communities; their characteristics, group relations and social institutions (home, school, church, government, health, wealth, leisure); modern trends molding rural and urban life. Attention is given to methods of modern redevelopment. Prerequisite: Sociology 301, 302, and/or 305.

Third term (1964-65 and alternate years)

310. Crime and Delinquency. The nature, extent and explanations of crime and delinquency; historical development of criminological thoughts, modern approaches and methods; a review of the theories of treatment and evaluation of programs for prevention and rehabilitation. Prerequisite: Sociology 301.

Third term

312. Racial Tensions and Cultural Conflicts. A survey of racial and cultural conflicts in contemporary civilization; theories of race and culture; relations between racial and cultural groups in specific situations in strategic areas of the world; the status of racial, religious and ethnic minorities in the United States; organizations, programs and social movements designed to improve intergroup relationships. Prerequisite: Sociology 201 and 302.

Second term

314. Introduction to Social Work. A survey of the field of social work. Historical development of social work concepts and philosophy; the present system and organization of social welfare and administration; the role of social work in contemporary society. Prerequisite: Sociology 206, 301, 302.
Third term

315. Mental and Physical Health in Family Living. The mental hygiene approach to tensions, conflicts and crises in the development of family living. Fundamental principles of human nutrition. Selection of diet to meet nutritional needs of children (infancy through adolescence), adults and elderly members of the family. Prerequisite: Sociology 206 or consent of instructor.
Third term

316. Social Change. The implications of science and technology for social change; effects of innovation upon social relationships; theories of social change, social effects of major inventions; a cross-cultural analysis of the processes of "industrialism." Prerequisite: Sociology 301 and 305.
Third term

401. Seminar. Reading and research designed to give a background in historical development, information concerning leaders, techniques and procedures, principles, projects and practices in original field research. Oral and written work required. Open to sociology majors or with the consent of the instructor.
By special arrangement

402. Independent Study. Introduction into an individual problem in a subject of interest to the student. Practice in library research, the use of specific research techniques and procedures and field research. Oral and written work is required. Open to sociology majors or with the consent of the instructor.
Second term

404. Studies in American Civilization. (See also English 404 and History 404). An integral historical, social and cultural interpretation of life, thought and institutions in the United States from 1870 to the present. Conducted on the seminar plan. Prerequisite: open to sociology majors; seniors, or with consent of the instructor and Sociology 401 or 402. English or history majors consult their advisers.
Third term

405. Contemporary Society: Russia. Description and analysis of social, economic and political life against a background of geography, population and development; values and ideology; family and education; communication and public opinion; background place in modern world. Open only to seniors.
(1964-65 and alternate years)

406. Contemporary Society: Cultures of the Far East. The peoples, cultures, economy, religious life, government organization, family life, social organization, ideology and socio-cultural change and development. Open only to seniors.
(1964-65 and alternate years)

407. Contemporary Society: South America. A survey of the cultures of South America emphasizing the types and variety of societies, their characteristic features and changes that have taken place. Attention is given to contemporary social, economic and political problems. Open only to seniors.
(1963-64 and alternate years)

408. Contemporary Society: Africa. A survey of the cultures of Africa and patterns of behavior associated with them. Selected aspects of social and cultural change; consequences of commercialization of land and labor; consequences of Western education; emergent forms of stratification and race relations. Open only to seniors.
(1963-64 and alternate years)

409. Contemporary Society: The Near East. Survey of one or more major areas in terms of regional developments and historical and modern social problems. Open only to seniors.
(1963-64 and alternate years)

403. Urban Sociology: Seminar. An analysis of the urban community. Includes nature, structure, inter-action and relationships evidenced by population, migration, housing, welfare programs and juvenile delinquency.

SPEECH

THOMAS L. FERNANDEZ, Associate Professor, Acting Head

JEAN LIEDMAN, Professor

PAUL GRAY, Instructor (leave of absence, 1963-64, 1964-65)

JAMES DEYOUNG, Instructor

Field of Concentration

- (a) A departmental unit of at least seven courses in addition to Speech 101, including 210, 221, 303, 316, 351 and 403.
- (b) At least five related courses.
- (c) Performance in dramatic production and/or intercollegiate forensics.

101. Fundamentals of Oral Communication. Designed to help the student acquire knowledge and skill in selecting and evaluating speech materials, organizing and phrasing ideas, developing effective control of voice and action and evaluating public speeches.

Each term

Staff

102. Advanced Public Speaking. A continuation of Speech 101. Principles of persuasion, speaking for special occasions and parliamentary law.
Third term

Mr. Fernandez

204. Radio Speech. The history and development of radio and television and their influence on society. Prerequisite: Speech 102 and sophomore standing or consent of the instructor.
(1963-64 and alternate years)

Mr. Fernandez

215. Debate Seminar. Open only to those who have won a place on the intercollegiate debate squad. Fractional credit.
By special arrangement

Mr. Fernandez

221. Interpretative Reading. Theory and skill of reading prose and poetry aloud.

First term

Mr. Fernandez

303. Discussion and Debate. The theory of argumentation and the application of it to various forms of discussion and debate. A study of evidence, reasoning, fallacies and briefing. Directed discussions, symposiums, panel discussions and team debating. Prerequisite: Speech 102, or consent of the instructor.
First term (1964-65 and alternate years)

Mr. Fernandez

315. Oration Seminar. Open only to those who have won a place on the intercollegiate debate squad.

By special arrangement

Mr. Fernandez

322. Advanced Interpretative Reading. Reading of advanced prose and poetry, dramatic poetry, classical literature and modern drama. Prerequisite: Speech 221.

Second term (1964-65 and alternate years)

Mr. Fernandez

351. Scientific Bases of Speech. An introduction to voice science and phonetics.

(1963-64 and alternate years)

Miss Liedman

352. Introduction to Speech Correction. A study of the process of normal speech development and the causes and treatment of various speech disorders.

(1963-64 and alternate years)

Miss Liedman

401. Independent Study. An individual program of reading and research under the guidance of the instructor.

By special arrangement

Staff

403. Senior Seminar. Reading and discussion designed to co-ordinate the fields of public address, theatre arts and speech science.

By special arrangement

Staff

410. Independent Study. A continuation of 401.

By special arrangement

Staff

Theater Arts

135. Freshman Workshop. A laboratory course in theatre practice, preparatory to membership in Crimson Masque (dramatic organization). Students learn the rudiments of theatre practice under the supervision of Crimson Masque personnel and the faculty director. Production will consist of two or three one-act plays, directed by the students. No fee is charged for this course and no credit is given, but if a student does satisfactory work he may become a member of Crimson Masque and register for a course in dramatics.

First Term

Mr. DeYoung

136. Freshman Workshop. A continuation of 135.

Second term

Mr. DeYoung

137. Freshman Workshop. A continuation of 136.

Third term

Mr. DeYoung

210. Introduction to Theatre Arts. A reading course designed to introduce the beginning student to basic theatre theory and practice through investigation of selected writings in dramatic theory and criticism, acting, directing and the technical fields of stagecraft and scenic design.

Second term

Mr. DeYoung

215. Stagecraft and Scenic Design. A textbook study of the technical and design elements of the dramatic production, combined with practical exercises in drafting, scenic design, stage lighting, costuming and makeup. A final project allows all students in the course to create a detailed and complete set of plans and designs for a stage production. The work of particularly gifted students may be incorporated into productions of the Monmouth College Theatre.

(1963-64 and alternate years)

Mr. DeYoung

235. Dramatics. Open to students who have satisfactorily passed the probationary requirements of Freshman Workshop and others who may be admitted by special permission of faculty director and Crimson Masque officers. Participation in the production of plays for public performance: acting, work on stage, property, lighting, publicity, makeup, costume and house committees. Fractional credit.

First term

Mr. DeYoung

236. Dramatics. A continuation of 235.

Second term

Mr. DeYoung

237. Dramatics. A continuation of 236.

Third term

Mr. DeYoung

311. Development of the Theatre. A survey of the growth and development of the theatre from prehistoric times to the present. Emphasis on the development of the physical theatre and history of acting and directing. Collateral reading and reporting on representative plays insures the integration of all material with courses in dramatic literature offered by the department of English.

(1963-64 and alternate years)

Mr. DeYoung

316. Principles of Directing. A course designed to introduce the beginning student of directing to the practical and theoretical aspects of his art. Readings from the great directors and writers on stage direction are combined with exercises in play analysis, movement, blocking and other tools of the stage director in order to prepare the student for more advanced work in the field of directing.

First term (1964-65 and alternate years)

Mr. DeYoung

335. Dramatics. Continuation of Dramatics 237. Fractional credit.

First term

Mr. DeYoung

336. Dramatics. A continuation of 335.

Second term

Mr. DeYoung

337. Dramatics. A continuation of 336.

Third term

Mr. DeYoung

435. Dramatics. Continuation of Dramatics 337. Fractional credit.

First term

Mr. DeYoung

436. Dramatics. A continuation of 435.

Second term

Mr. DeYoung

437. Dramatics. A continuation of 436.

Third term

Mr. DeYoung

445. Directing. Production of a play as a laboratory performance or for the public. Prerequisite: 316. Fractional credit.

By special arrangement

Mr. DeYoung

SPECIAL STUDY PROGRAMS

ENGINEERING

Students interested in engineering may take advantage of the binary program sponsored by Monmouth College in cooperation with Case Institute of Technology, Cleveland, Ohio.

Briefly, this program calls for a three-year program of liberal arts study at Monmouth, followed by two years of engineering work at Case Institute. Upon completion of the five-year program the student will receive degrees from Monmouth and the engineering school.

The binary program is designed to provide the engineering student with all the best features of two types of educational work — that of the liberal arts college and the technical engineering school. This combination is of great importance, for in an increasing degree men who have attained eminence as engineers are required to have a broad background in liberal education to carry out their duties as executives in engineering work.

Students may also attend Monmouth College three years and transfer to the Illinois Institute of Technology or University of Illinois. If they follow the program outlined below they may receive an A.B. from Monmouth at the time of graduation from the engineering school.

WASHINGTON SEMESTER

Students who have demonstrated exceptional academic ability are selected as candidates for this program. The study program at American University in Washington, D. C., is designed to bring superior students into contact with source materials and government institutions at the nation's capitol.

In addition to regular study and a research project, students are required to participate in the Washington Seminar, a course consisting of a series of informal meetings with members of Congress and administration officials. Monmouth College offers full credit for work done under this plan.

JUNIOR YEAR ABROAD

Monmouth College participates in a variety of programs offering foreign study during the junior year. The modern foreign languages department has an exchange agreement with Mexico City College where full tuition for one term is offered by Mexico City College to any Monmouth College student recommended by the modern foreign languages department. Exchange arrangements have also been made with Universite Laval, Quebec, Canada; National University of Mexico, Mexico City; and the University of Guadalajara.

The most extensive "Junior Year Abroad" program is the one sponsored by the United Presbyterian Church, U. S. A. Under this program a student can study in France, Germany, Ghana, Hong Kong, India, Japan, Lebanon, Pakistan, Switzerland and the Philippines.

Main requisites are a good academic record and a concern for international relationships. In some countries special language preparation is necessary.

Students can also do independent study under a program arranged by the Experiment in International Living.

Application for any of the "Junior Year Abroad" programs should be made early in the sophomore year. Cost is $1,500 to $2,500 per year. While Monmouth College does not directly sponsor any of these programs, a faculty committee on study overseas maintains contacts with the sponsoring organizations and acts as a clearing-house for applications. This committee will also assist students who wish to apply directly to foreign schools and make independent arrangements.

ARGONNE SEMESTER

The Argonne Semester program, adapted to conform to the three-term, three-course curriculum, offers an opportunity for outstanding science students to study and do research at Argonne National Laboratory in suburban Chicago. Argonne, one of the nation's three major centers for nuclear research, is operated by the University of Chicago for the Atomic Energy Commission.

The program provides for 15 weeks of full-credit study and research at Argonne. A group of 10 outstanding students in biology, chemistry, physics and applied mathematics is selected from the 10 Associated Colleges of the Midwest schools twice yearly.

Students are assigned to Argonne scientists, with whom they work five mornings each week as part-time research assistants. They receive technician-level pay for a 20-hour work week. Afternoons are spent in seminars and research conducted by faculty members from the ACM colleges in residence at Argonne.

CRITICAL LANGUAGES

Through this program, students at Monmouth and 31 other colleges and universities may attend Princeton University for instruction in Arabic, Chinese, Japanese, Persian, Russian and Turkish languages and related regional studies in the social sciences and humanities. Undergraduates are admitted to Princeton at the end of their sophomore year for either one or two years of instruction and will normally return to Monmouth as seniors to complete their undergraduate education. Admission requirements are a distinguished academic record and one year of the critical language to be studied (this requirement may be met by an intensive summer course such as those given at Columbia, Harvard, Michigan, Stanford, Georgetown, or Yale).

WILDERNESS FIELD STATION

A five-week full-credit summer course sponsored by the Associated Colleges of the Midwest in the Quetico-Superior region is open to 20 outstanding biology and geology students annually. Situated near the Quetico-Superior Wilderness Research Center, the ACM field station uses the resources of the center and emphasizes field studies and individual projects. Four faculty-members from the ACM colleges conduct the course.

URBAN EDUCATION

This Associated Colleges of the Midwest program to prepare college students for teaching careers in urban public schools combines student teaching in the Chicago public schools with instruction in urban sociology and study of urban education. Students spend 16 weeks in Chicago, housed in apartments owned by the University of Chicago and with library and cafeteria privileges at the university. Practice teaching is divided between two schools serving contrasting social and economic areas. There is no extra charge to students selected for the full-credit course.

NURSING

Monmouth College has a nursing program in cooperation with Chicago Wesley Memorial Hospital in Chicago, Illinois. Candidates for the program must spend three academic years on the Monmouth campus, earn a grade-point average of 2.5 or higher and meet all graduation requirements except the senior residence requirement.

Students may major in any program offered by Monmouth but must take certain courses required by the hospital: chemistry, biology, etc. After completing the work at Monmouth, the student enters the School of Nursing at Wesley for 36 months. At the end of the professional course and the granting of the R.N. degree by the hospital, the candidate will be awarded the Bachelor of Arts degree by Monmouth upon recommendation of the School of Nursing.

The hospital, with a bed capacity of 700, affords students an opportunity to observe and study a diversity of disease conditions and to obtain experience caring for these patients. Wesley is accredited by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals and approved by the American Medical Association. The School of Nursing is approved by the Illinois State Department of Registration and Education and accredited by the National Nursing Accrediting Service of the National League for Nursing. Instruction is given both at Wesley and in the laboratories and classrooms of Northwestern University Medical School.

CAREER PREPARATION

It is generally conceded that a liberal arts education provides the best foundation for professional and graduate study. The Monmouth program not only allows the student to concentrate in a field closely related to his interest, but also offers him an opportunity to secure a broad, general education.

Most graduate and professional schools now discourage heavy undergraduate specialization and emphasize the values of a broadly based liberal arts education as a preparation for advanced study. A student who enters Monmouth with a well-defined career interest is referred to a faculty-member specially qualified to advise students in this field. The following comments will be helpful to students who plan careers which require advanced study.

Journalism. After receiving a B.A. degree, students can usually obtain an M.A. in journalism after one year in a professional school. Most newspaper and magazine editors prefer to employ beginners with experience on college publications and a broad liberal arts background. Students interested in journalism careers usually concentrate in English, social sciences or psychology. The weekly campus newspaper, The Oracle; the literary magazine, The Piper; the yearbook, The Ravelings, and the campus radio station, WFS, offer ample opportunity for students to gain practical experience.

Law. The major field for a student planning to enter law school is immaterial. In accordance with a statement of policy from the Association of American Law Schools, pre-legal education at Monmouth is "education from comprehension and expression in words, for critical understanding of human institutions and values, and for creative power in thinking . . . The development of these fundamental capacities is not the monopoly of any one subject-matter area, department or division."

Social sciences, Latin, philosophy and psychology are recommended for inclusion in the student's undergraduate work. The college pre-law club meets regularly to hear representatives from law schools and discuss current trends in the field.

Library Science. After receiving the B.A. degree, students may qualify for a library degree with one year of training in a professional school. Major field is immaterial. Business and industry have opened new fields in specialized library work for students with scientific training. There are opportunities for students with an interest in library science to work in the college library.

Medicine. Although most students who plan to enter medicine or dentistry major in biology or chemistry, a major in any field is acceptable to most medical or dental schools providing certain basic science courses are included. Biology majors fulfilling the departmental requirements automatically meet entrance requirements for most graduate schools. In addition to college graduation requirements, biology majors are required to take Biology 101 and 102, 305, to take College Biology 101 and 102, Comparative Vertebrate Anatomy, Embryology, Physiology, Seminar and Experimental Biology or Research. In related fields of chemistry and physics, biology majors must take Elementary Inorganic Chemistry,

Descriptive Elementary Organic Chemistry, Electrolytic Equilibrium, Elementary Analytical Chemistry and General Physics.

In order to handle the mathematical concepts in the chemistry and physics courses listed above, the student needs to have had the equivalent of mathematics through calculus. Each student's program is an individual matter, carefully planned by the department staff so that the student may take full advantage of every area of study which may be helpful to him.

Medical Technology. Under a program similar to that for medicine and dentistry, students may major in any field providing certain basic course requirements are met. Generally, a B.A. degree with a major in biology or chemistry is taken. A fifth year at a professional school and successful completion of the registry examination will lead to the certificate in Medical Technology.

Ministry. The American Association of Theological Schools recommends a broad liberal arts background as the best preparation for the modern ministry. Concentration in philosophy, religion, history, English, sociology or psychology is acceptable and some knowledge of Greek is a valuable asset. Monmouth's program for training of church education assistants is approved by the United Presbyterian Church Joint Committee of Nine.

The committee notes that the program "has value for students of other communions who are preparing for service in the field of Christian education." The program includes general liberal arts requirements in humanities, social sciences, physical sciences and mathematics and 14 term courses in education, psychology, religion and music.

Teaching. Approximately one-third of Monmouth's graduates enter careers as elementary school, high school or college teachers. Teacher preparation at Monmouth emphasizes mastery of subject matter rather than methods and includes extensive practice teaching in the local school system in Chicago under the ACM Urban Education program. The education department does not offer a field of concentration, but cooperates with other departments in teacher training. Courses meet certification requirements in Illinois and other states, but students planning to teach outside Illinois should consult with the education department for specific state requirements.

As a rule, secondary school teachers must be prepared to teach in their major field and an additional field for certification. Five-year programs leading to a B.A. and M.E. have been instituted in recent years.

Other Careers. Monmouth also prepares students for careers in foreign service, optometry, physical therapy, occupational therapy, secretarial positions, social work, veterinarian medicine, and business.

DIVISIONS OF THE FACULTY

For purposes of administration the departments of the faculty are grouped into three divisions, as follows:

- I. Humanities
 - Art
 - Bible and Religion
 - Classical Languages
 - English
 - History
 - Modern Foreign Languages
 - French
 - German
 - Russian
 - Spanish
 - Music
 - Philosophy
 - Speech
- II. Social Sciences
 - Economics and Business Administration
 - Education
 - Government
 - Physical Education
 - Psychology
 - Sociology
- III. Natural Sciences and Mathematics
 - Biology
 - Chemistry
 - Geology
 - Mathematics
 - Physics

GENERAL INFORMATION

History

Monmouth College was founded in 1853 by Presbyterians of Scottish descent and is affiliated with the United Presbyterian Church, U. S. A. From 1853 to 1856 the school was a preparatory school for ministers of the Associate Reformed Presbyterian Church, the church of the founders. The college received its charter from the general assembly of the State of Illinois in 1857. From the beginning, Monmouth has admitted women students on equal terms with men and thus is a pioneer in advanced education for women.

During its first 100 years of existence, Monmouth College had five presidents: Dr. David A. Wallace, Dr. Jackson Burgess McMichael, Dr. S. R. Lyons, Dr. Thomas Hanna McMichael and Dr. James Harper Grier. Dr. Grier retired in 1952 and was succeeded by Monmouth's current president, Dr. Robert Wesson Gibson.

Control

Governing body of the college is the board of directors, composed of 40 directors elected to office by the Illinois Synod of the United Presbyterian Church, U. S. A. and the Monmouth College Alumni Association.

Accreditation

Monmouth College is accredited by the North Central Association and the American Chemical Society.

Membership

Monmouth College is an institutional member of the American Alumni Council, American Association of Colleges in Teacher Education, American Association of University Women, Associated Colleges of the Midwest, American Council on Education, American College Public Relations Association, Associated Colleges of Illinois, Association of American Colleges, Association of American Universities, Illinois Association for Teacher Education in Private Colleges, Midwest Athletic Conference, and Presbyterian College Union.

Associated Colleges of the Midwest

Monmouth is a member of the Associated Colleges of the Midwest, an organization of 10 coeducational liberal arts colleges in Iowa, Illinois, Minnesota and Wisconsin. These independent colleges, of similar size, organization and purpose, work together in various undertakings, curricular and extra-curricular, to increase educational effectiveness and operating efficiency. Continuing projects include the Argonne National Laboratory program, Language Instruction program and Insurance program. Member ACM colleges are Monmouth, Beloit, Carleton, Coe, Cornell, Grinnell, Knox, Lawrence, Ripon and St. Olaf.

Midwest Athletic Conference

Monmouth is a member of the Midwest Athletic Conference, which carries on intercollegiate competition at the varsity and freshman level. Member schools are the 10 Associated Colleges of the Midwest listed above. Con-petition is held in football, basketball, track, swimming, golf, tennis, baseball, cross-country and wrestling. There are no intercollegiate athletics for women, except for occasional invitational tournaments and sports days. Extensive intramural competition is scheduled for both men and women in a program conducted by the Physical Educational department.

Academic Buildings

Wallace Hall, central classroom building, built in 1909; J. B. McMichael Science Hall, lecture rooms and laboratories, 1910; Auditorium; Administration Building; Austin Hall, music classrooms and practice rooms; Art Center, classrooms, studios and art library; Student Center, dining hall, lounge, snack bar, post office, bookstore, conference rooms, student offices, music and recreation rooms; Woodbine, teacher preparation materials center, seminar rooms, faculty offices.

Residence Halls

T. H. McMichael Hall, women's residence hall, built in 1915; James Harper Grier Hall, women's residence hall, 1940; Alice B. Winbigler Hall, women's residence hall, 1945; Honors House, residence for senior women; The Manor, home of the president; Fulton Hall, men's residence hall, 1950; Graham Hall, men's residence hall, 1960, French Language House, for upperclass French language students.

Fraternity Houses

Provide room and board for members: Alpha Tau Omega, Tau Kappa Epsilon, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Sigma Phi Epsilon, and Theta Chi fraternities.

Sorority Chapter Rooms

Housed in Marshall Hall for: Alpha Xi Delta, Kappa Delta, Kappa Kappa Gamma, Pi Beta Phi sororities.

Athletic Facilities

Waid Gymnasium, constructed in 1925, houses basketball court, swimming pool, indoor track, rifle range, handball courts, locker-room and shower facilities, faculty offices. Adjacent to the gymnasium is the athletic field and stadium with facilities for baseball, football, track, archery and tennis.

Laboratories

Biology, chemistry, geology, and physics.

Carnegie Library

Built in 1930, houses more than 85,000 volumes. Departmental libraries, slide, record and photograph libraries, microcard and film readers, film strips, Martin Oriental Collection, cooperative work with Warren County Public Library.

Location

The 30-acre campus is located in the eastern section of Monmouth, Illinois, a city of 11,000 in Western Illinois. The city is 180 miles southwest of Chicago and is the county seat of Warren County.

Transportation

Monmouth is on the main line of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad and is also served by two bus lines. Air travel facilities are 10 miles from the campus and U. S. Highways 34 and 67 intersect in the heart of the city.

Health, Counseling and Placement Services

The Monmouth College student health service operates an infirmary, under the supervision of two registered nurses, which provides hospitalization for minor disabilities. The services of the two college physicians are available at the dispensary, which is open to all students for minor illnesses and emergency treatment. Coupled with this is a student insurance plan, the cost of which is borne completely by the college. This provides year-round coverage, both on and off the campus, for physician's services, hospital services and board and room, X-rays and laboratory tests, dental and medical care and surgery necessitated by injury or illness. Special coverage includes treatment for Polio. A fully-accredited community hospital located two blocks from the campus is also available for hospitalization and out-patient care.

Counseling services begin with comprehensive testing and interviewing during Orientation week. Following this, students choose a faculty adviser who assists in selecting a program of courses and advises the student on any other problems. In addition to the faculty adviser, the counsel of all staff members, including the deans and the college chaplain, is available to all students.

Monmouth's office of student aid and placement assists both students and alumni in obtaining employment. The college placement bureau maintains a career library and arranges interviews with company personnel representatives and Monmouth students. The office also administers part-time campus employment, upper-class scholarships, grants-in-aid and student loans.

CAMPUS LIFE

Social. In addition to the all-college social programs directed by the student council, other campus activities are sponsored by the 23 special interest clubs, 15 honorary organizations, seven service groups and 11 social groups. The social groups include five national fraternities, four national sororities and independent student associations for men and women. The new student center, constructed in 1963, is the hub of campus social life. It offers dining facilities, conference rooms, a snack bar and lounge, game room, music room, postoffice, bookstore, bowling alleys, dance room and offices for student groups.

Student Government. Because enrollment at the college is limited to about 950, a proportionately large number of students have an opportunity to develop leadership qualities in the many campus organizations. Various governing groups include the student council, student-faculty committee, committee on student affairs, student center committee, Association of Women Students, interfraternity council, Panhellenic Council and class officers.

Honorary Societies. A limited number of junior and senior students earn membership in the campus scholastic fraternity, Sigma Omicron Mu, and receive honors at the Honors Convocations held three times yearly. Other honorary scholastic fraternities are Alpha Lambda Delta, for freshmen women, and Phi Eta Mu, for freshmen men. Honorary fraternities also recognize excellence in the fields of English, biology, history, forensics, Spanish, social science, classics, music, campus leadership and service.

Special Interest Groups. Departmental special interest groups meet regularly to discuss and put into practice the theories they learn in the classroom. These include clubs for chemistry, music, history, dramatics, forensics, international relations, dance, physical education, politics, pre-law, religion, rifle, sociology, Spanish and athletics.

Student Publications and Radio Station. Students gain practical experience in writing, editing, reporting, advertising, layout, printing and broadcasting through work on the Oracle, campus weekly newspaper; Ravelings, student yearbook; Piper, literary annual; and WFS, campus radio station.

Athletics. All students may participate in the college's diversified intramural and intercollegiate athletic program. At the intercollegiate level, Monmouth competes in nine varsity sports as a member of the Midwest Collegiate Athletic Conference.

Confrontation Outside the Classroom. A program of "confrontation outside the classroom," designed to relate classroom studies to current topics and practices, includes the concert-lecture series, student-faculty colloquia, student convocations and chapels, visiting lecturers and performers, Sunday evening discussions, biennial Liberal Arts Festival and placing of books and periodicals in the residence halls.

REGULATIONS

The college expects its students to conduct themselves as responsible members of a Christian community. Those who persistently refuse to conform to the spirit and regulations of the institution will not be permitted to remain in college.

Monmouth College opposes drinking, gambling, and hazing in all forms. The use or possession of alcoholic beverages on or off campus is not permitted by the college.

Complete rules governing registration, attendance, conduct, probation, and use of automobiles will be published in the Scots Guide which is distributed at the beginning of the school year.

PRIZES AND AWARDS

Among the awards offered each year for excellence in various lines of activity are the following:

The Waid Prizes. Six prizes are offered for biographical reading as a means of cultivating interest in biography among college students. Three prizes of $25.00, $15.00 and $10.00 are offered to freshmen. Three similar prizes are available to members of the three upper classes. These prizes were endowed by Dan Everett Waid '87.

Forensic Emblem. This medal is presented by the College and the Forensic League to those who have represented the college in inter-collegiate debate or oratory.

Mary Porter Phelps Prize. A prize of $50.00 is awarded each year to the student who, in the judgment of the faculty, has manifested superiority in three points: scholarship, thrift and economy, and the development of character. Only those who have completed at least two years' work in Monmouth College are eligible for this prize.

The William B. McKinley Prizes in English. In 1925 Senator William B. McKinley of Illinois, endowed two prizes of $50.00 each to encourage individual study and research in advanced work in English. The prizes are awarded each year to students who offer the best theses upon specially designed subjects.

Sigma Tau Delta Freshman Prizes. Rho Alpha Chapter of Sigma Tau Delta offers each year three prizes on Commencement Day to the freshmen writing the best compositions in verse or prose. Entries must be prepared especially for this contest.

Dan Everett and Eva Clark Waid Prize. This prize of $100.00 is endowed by Mr. and Mrs. Waid of New York, and is awarded by the faculty on the basis of all-around excellence and development.

The Blair Award, provided by Dr. and Mrs. Charles P. Blair, for a student who is interested in the field of Latin.

The Bernice L. Fox Latin Prize. This $200.00 annual award, given by an anonymous donor, is made to a Latin student "whose progress is worthy of recognition." Miss Fox, associate professor of classical languages, will select recipients of the award.

The Lulu Johnson McCoy Prizes, endowed by her husband, J. Clyde McCoy, and consisting of two prizes of $50 and $25 to be awarded each year to students of outstanding quality who are majoring in music.
